MANY DIE IN LOS ANGELES FLOOD AREA

SIX DEATHS DUE TO THICK ENGLISH FOG

Shroud Over London and Southern Counties Causes Numerous Accidents

TRAFFIC CRIPPLED IN ALL DIRECTIONS

LONDON, Jan. 1 (AP). — England's New Year was dulled today by a cold, gray fog which blanketed London and the southern counties and caused six deaths and numerous injuries in accidents.

Road, rail, air and water traffic in all directions was paralyzed or crippled.

Not a single aeroplane could leave or reach Croydon Airport. One air liner managed to creep through the murk from Paris as far as Lympne Airdrome.

Shipping in the solent and other coastal areas was at a standstill. The annual horse races in Manchester were canceled.

WORST FOR YEARS

The fog was described as one of the worst in years and much denser than any in 1933. In the southwest area it was called the worst in five years.

Flares were posted to mark street corners in London and conductors, carrying torches, preceded street cars and buses. Some pedestrians used flashlights.

In some sections the automobile association reported visibility was nil, while generally the visibility was said to be only four or five yards.

IN SLOW PROCESSION

"Follow the leader" was a popular game with the few buses, street cars, and automobiles that could move. Loud speakers were used to announce trains.

The holiday spirit came to the rescue, however. All transportation services were jammed, but the crowds were mostly good humored.

An electric train telescoped two coaches tonight when it ran into the rear of another in the Camden Town area. The trains were nearly empty. A few persons were injured, only one of them seriously.

FELL TO HIS DEATH

BEST CITIZEN AGAIN HONORED

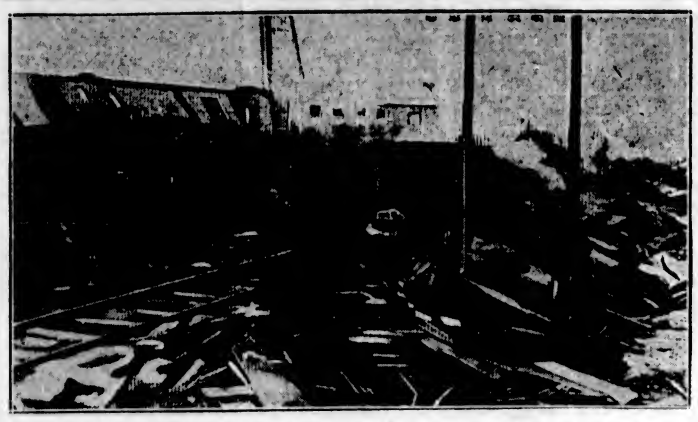

Miss Mary Lawson Receives Order of British Empire for Services

In recognition of her thirty-seven years of devoted service to the welfare of the community, Miss Mary Lawson, secretary of the Friendly Help Association from the time of its inception almost down to the present time, has received the Order of the British Empire.

Her name was among those of other Canadians in the New Year's honor list cabled from London. No other selection could have met with such general approval in Victoria, where Miss Lawson's splendid work is a household word, and a stream of congratulations poured in, yesterday.

Two Hundred Killed in Train Wreck

A COMPLETE jumble of cars at Lagny, France, attests to the force with which one train of Christmas travelers telescoped the other in the worst railroad accident in history. The death toll amounted to 200, with 250 injured. The photograph, cabled across the Atlantic, shows the utter chaos which resulted from the wreck.

FIREMEN USE WATER TO QUELL RIOT IN VANCOUVER CHINATOWN

Trouble Starts When Chinese Strikes White Man With Hammer — Hilarious Celebrants Turn Into Angry Mob — Police Call Brigade to Help When Own Forces Insufficient

VANCOUVER, Jan. 1 (CP).—A number of New Year's Eve celebrants were nursing black eyes and bruised heads, tonight, as the result of a battle with police and firemen in a small riot in Chinatown, early today. No arrests were made. According to police, the trouble started when a Chinese in a taxi struck a white man with a hammer, but did not injure him seriously.

Immediately the usual crowd "going Chinatown" turned from hilarious celebrations into a mob, and whites and Chinese generally joined in a grand melee.

AUTOS OVERTURNED

Parked automobiles were "rocked" and turned over while Chinese proprietors stood in front of their stores with sticks held behind their backs to protect their premises.

The battle was becoming general along Pender Street, from Carrall to Main streets, when Inspector C. F. Tuley arrived. He whistled for reinforcements, and four constables who were in the vicinity came to the scene.

CALLS FOR AID

The five officers, however, were no match for the mob, which was beginning to spread out by this time, and reinforcements were called for from headquarters.

Chief of Police John Cameron and Deputy Chief Murdock arrived with a squad of constables and detectives. Taking in the situation, Chief Cameron sent in a call for the fire department, and two hose wagons from No. 2 fire hall answered.

While the firemen coupled the hose, police formed a ring guard around them to keep the rioters back.

WATER PROVES EFFECTIVE

Finally, the hoses were coupled to the hydrant and two streams of water poured into the crowd. Police, using fists and clubs, charged into the thick of the mob, and in a short time the rioters were dispersed, and what threatened to be a serious riot broken up.

Minor scratches and bruises were the only injuries received by police and firemen during the struggle.

Resignation Forced by Ill Health

WILLIAM H. WOODIN

Whose resignation from the secretaryship of the United States Treasury, tendered some weeks ago because of ill health, was accepted yesterday by President Roosevelt.

Morgenthau Made Head Of Treasury

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 (AP).—President Roosevelt today gave evidence of his satisfaction with the progress of the administration's financial and monetary programmes under the direction of Henry Morgenthau, Jr., by giving his old friend and neighbor the title as well as the responsibilities of Secretary of the Treasury.

After more than a month as acting head of the department, Morgenthau was promoted to full membership in the Cabinet, following the resignation of Secretary Woodin, who went on leave of absence in mid-December to seek rest and recovery from a persistent throat infection.

FACING GRAVE COMPLICATIONS

Resignation of Minister Causes Threatening Situation in Rumania

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Jan. 1 (AP).—Grave complications in the Rumanian situation were threatened today when Nicholas Titulescue, returning from Switzerland, announced he would submit his resignation as Foreign Minister.

The veteran statesman declared he no longer wanted to remain a member of a Government which "so signally failed to take sufficiently energetic measures against a movement"—(the anti-Semitic Iron Guard)—"which imperilled, not only the inner political, but foreign relations."

The slackness of the Government was to blame, he charged, for the death of Premier Ion G. Duca on Friday, at the hands of a student member of the outlawed Iron Guard.

King Carol and Constantine Angelescu, former Minister of Education, who was named Duca's successor as Premier, and other leaders, tried to persuade Titulescu to reconsider.

NOT PLANNING TO EXPAND SERVICES

Skeleton Strength of Permanent Forces in Canada Will Be Maintained

OTTAWA, Jan. 1 (CP).—Canada contemplates no programme of naval construction for 1934, and, so far as Government policy concerns itself with matters of defence, the Dominion will embark on no lines of expansion in any branch of the service, it was learned here.

The four destroyers and three minesweepers which constitute the Royal Canadian Navy will continue to do so; the skeleton strength of the permanent force units will be maintained, while whatever is done for the Royal Canadian Air Force will be in the way of replacement only.

Rockslide Dams Shoshone River

CODY, Wyo., Jan. 1 (AP). — A rockslide that startled the residents of the North Fork section of the Shoshone River country with its rumble and roar, has dammed the stream and formed a small lake.

The slide occurred at a rock formation of eroded lava that is known as the Holy City. A large section of a cliff, about forty feet long, fell lengthwise into the river, and completely dammed the stream with rock and debris for more than twenty-four hours.

Unemployed Fewer by Thousands

LONDON, Jan. 1 (AP). — The Minister of Labor announced tonight that the number of unemployed persons registered at employment exchanges in Great Britain, on December 18, totaled 2,224,079. This figure was 55,938 less than on November 20, and 499,208 less than on the same date in 1932.

It was estimated 10,007,000 insured persons between the ages of sixteen and sixty-four, were employed on December 18. This is 51,000 more than in the month before, and 567,000 more than on the same date of the previous year.

Three Killed by Boiler Explosion

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Jan. 1 (AP).—A boiler explosion aboard the steamer Totito resulted today in the death of three members of her crew. The vessel was fifty miles out of Port Pasages.

Mayor Stewart Returned In Toronto by Huge Lead

TORONTO, Jan. 1 (CP).—Mayor William T. Stewart will be Toronto's "Centenary Mayor" in 1934. Adding to his majority at every poll, citizens piled up votes until Mr. Stewart was nearly 60,000 in front of his nearest competitor, H. L. Rogers. Two others, Rev. A. E. Smith and A. E. Hacker, were still further behind. This will be Mayor Stewart's fourth successive term as chief magistrate.

The Board of Control was re-elected. Sam MacBride (former mayor), J. G. Ramsden, James Simpson and W. D. Robbins swept in on a sea of votes.

The Board of Control results were of unusual interest. Controller Simpson had announced he was running as a Co-operative Commonwealth Federation candidate, and local newspapers promptly withdrew their support. He ran third in the race, however, and is back on the board.

King's Message Strikes Note of Cheerful Tone

LONDON, Jan. 1 (CP).—"I am happy to think we can now face the new year with growing confidence and more cheerful hearts," said His Majesty the King in a message to the Lord Mayor of London.

"Please convey to the citizens of London my warm thanks for the loyal New Year message which you, my Lord Mayor, addressed me in their names," the message went on. "I greatly appreciate your words of greeting to the Queen and my family."

RECOGNIZED BY THE KING

Two Canadians Raised to Knighthood in New Year's Honor List

LONDON, Jan. 1 (CP). — Two Canadians who have rendered long and distinguished public service were raised to knighthood by His Majesty in the New Year's honors list last night — Lyman P. Duff, Chief Justice of the Canadian Supreme Court, and Joseph Matthias Tellier, Chief Justice of the Quebec Court of King's Bench, Quebec.

In the honors list for New Year's Canadians figured for the first time, with minor exceptions, since the House of Commons at Ottawa passed a resolution in 1919, fourteen years ago, which called for discontinuance of honors in Canada.

MANY OTHERS HONORED

Four noted public servants were given orders of knighthood, not carrying the ceremonial prefix of "sir," and thirty-two Canadian women were honored with membership, in various ranks, of the Order of the British Empire for services in social work, hospital or educational services.

John Guy, confidential messenger to the Governor-General's office at Ottawa, was awarded membership in the Order of the British Empire.

Publication of the honors list disclosed there were no grounds for the widespread rumors that Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner in London, would be

IMPACT SHOOK HOMES ASHORE

Occupants Rushed Out in Alarm When Freighter Struck Alberni Reef

PORT ALBERNI, Jan. 1. — The lumber freighter Ethel Radcliffe left here for Victoria this afternoon, following an examination by Pacific Salvage Company divers on Sunday. Extensive damage was reported to the ship's port bow, the forward peak being flooded. Heavily loaded with lumber, the Radcliffe was shifting from the Government assembly wharf to the Alberni Pacific Lumber Company's docks when she hit a submerged reef off Katherine Point.

The shock of the impact shook houses on the shore, causing residents to rush out in alarm. Captain Howell Jenkins is master of the ship, but the pilot was in charge at the time the ship grounded. She was only a short time ashore, backing off under her own power.

The Ethel Radcliffe is expected at Esquimalt this afternoon, and as soon as some of the cargo has been unloaded, she will be floated into the Government drydock, Saturday, equipment and divers were sent up by motor truck from Victoria, in charge of W. G. Jordan, Salvage Company superintendent. The extent of the damage to the ship will not be known until a survey is made in the drydock.

Hunters Shoot Big Cougar After Long Trek and Hard Fight

Four Dogs Injured in Battle With Panther Treed After Two-Day March Through Rugged Country Around Shawnigan Lake

AFTER two days on the trail and a night in the open, two hunters from Shawnigan Lake, Messrs. Burdes and Behnsen, succeeded, late Saturday, in killing a large cougar, but not before the savage beast had injured their four dogs in a fierce battle that culminated the long search. On Sunday, they brought the skin, which measured just less than ten feet from nose to tip of tail, to the city.

The hunters picked up the trail in the wild ranges to the west of Sooke Lake and north of Leech River. All day they followed their dogs over round country and frequently through two and three feet of wet snow. After camping for the night in the open, and breakfasting on the last of their food, they took up the trail again, and late in the afternoon the dogs treed their quarry, near the southern end of Grant Lake. Along the trail they passed the remains of three deer that had fallen prey to the panther.

As the hunters approached to get in a shot at the snarling cougar, the big beast suddenly leapt onto the dogs. Biting and clawing, in an effort to gain freedom, the maurader injured all four, which refused to be driven from the fight. Before the hunters were able to get in a finishing shot, one hound had been badly lacerated and the other three dogs had received lesser injuries.

After skinning the panther and dressing the wounds of the dogs as best they could, the hunters made their way to the Kokallah River, carrying the most seriously injured of the dogs. A logging train provided transportation for the exhausted men and dogs to Shawnigan Lake.

Nazis Renew Activity to Gain Control

VIENNA, Jan. 1 (AP).—Spectacular Nazi demonstrations in various sections of Austria today marked their intention to gain control of the nation in 1934.

As the curtain went up at the historic Vienna Burgtheatre tonight on the performance of George Bernard Shaw's "The Apple Cart," it revealed a huge swastika banner placed by Nazis who somehow had upset the apple cart of the backstage management.

EARTHQUAKE IN FRANCE

BAYONNE, France, Jan. 1 (AP). —A strong earth shock was felt along the Basque coast shortly after 5 o'clock this morning. Houses were shaken, but no damage was reported.

Community Service Work Recognized

MISS MARY LAWSON

Who for many years was secretary of the Friendly Help Association in Victoria, has been recognized in the New Year's honor list cabled from London and has been made a member of the Order of the British Empire.

BANISH PRINCE FROM AUSTRIA

Chancellor Dollfuss Gives Personal Order for Deportation to Germany

KLAGENFURT, Austria, Jan. 1 (AP).—The Nazi Prince Bernhard Von Sachsen-Meiningen, who escaped from Austrian authorities and fled to Italy with his pretty wife, three weeks ago, was back in jail again today—but not for long.

Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss himself ordered that the prince be deported to Germany. Held at Villach, west of here, he was told he would be banished from Austria "forever."

The prince was arrested as he attempted to slip back into his romantic castle, near here, last night.

It was from the castle that both he and the princess escaped. They had been arrested for alleged conspiracy against the Austrian Government. She was held prisoner in the castle. He was allowed to return there from a concentration camp to "wind up his personal affairs." Then they both ran away to Italy.

PREMIER SUFFERS SLIGHT ILLNESS

Will Be Able to Leave for Ottawa Tomorrow From Prince Rupert

PRINCE RUPERT, Jan. 1 (CP).—"The Premier is distinctly better and will be able to travel on Wednesday," Dr. W. T. Kergin announced tonight concerning Premier T. D. Pattullo of British Columbia who is in Prince Rupert General Hospital with a slight nasal infection.

Mr. Pattullo arrived here on Sunday from Vancouver, to visit his constituency before proceeding to Ottawa.

Mr. Pattullo stated that a programme of public works had been drawn up by the British Columbia Government, for the financing of which he hoped arrangements could be made at the Dominion-Provincial conference in Ottawa.

Unprecedented Rains Send Muddy Torrent Down Upon Lowlands

Relief Workers Combing Debris In Search of Further Victims

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 1 (AP).—Tragedy rolled through the lowlands about Los Angeles, today, in the form of a deluge, leaving a death toll tentatively reported at fifty or more persons. Thirty bodies have been recovered, of which thirteen are unidentified. Missing number twenty-five.

Twelve inches or more rain fell in the foothills regions in the twenty-four hours ending at 10 o'clock this morning. The mighty flow of water flooded valleys and lowlands, drove thousands from their homes, caught uncounted hundreds of automobiles and inflicted great property damage.

The downpour became intense late Sunday night, washing the old year out and the new year in.

MERRYMAKERS KILLED

Communication was cut off from the disaster centres and exact reports on the toll of life and property could not be obtained readily. Bridges fell under the strain, in some cases carrying New Year's Eve merrymakers to their deaths. Train service was upset.

In the centre of Los Angeles, the rainfall in twenty-four hours was 7.14 inches, establishing an all-time record.

Scene of greatest havoc was the area in the hills back of Glendale, known as the La Crescenta-Montrose region, which, a few weeks ago, was denuded of trees and shrubs in a disastrous forest fire.

LIFE-SAVING CREWS WORKING

Emergency crews of life-savers went into this area last night, but all direct communication was cut off.

One report from two college men, sent into the area with an emergency short-wave wireless set, was that thirty bodies had been recovered.

Another message, received in Pasadena, some thirty miles from the isolated area, indicated seven bodies had been recovered in this Montrose-La Crescenta area.

Walls of water, described as twenty-five feet high, were reported as having crashed down the largest valley of the fire-denuded region. It tore through the American Legion Hall, at Montrose, crushing the structure and resulting in the death of Mrs. Myrtle Adams, president of the Montrose branch of the Red Cross, and Mrs. Rall, a volunteer worker.

Some eight miles down the foothills, on the floor of San Fernando Valley, the City of Glendale, nearest community to the stricken foothill towns, recorded seven flood victims of its own.

PLUNGED INTO TORRENT

Approximately twenty miles to the southeast, in the San Gabriel Valley, centre of the suburban citrus region, five persons drowned when an automobile plunged into the torrent of what usually was a dry arroyo. The sixth occupant escaped by swimming.

Four were reported missing in the Los Angeles River, which is but a dry gulch some 364 days of the year.

There was one death in Monterey Park. A woman drowned as she stepped from her automobile and was swept beneath it.

Seven traffic deaths were reported in various sections as a result of the storm.

One Fatally Hurt In Train Smash

NORTH BAY, Ont., Jan. 1 (CP). —Death to one man and injuries of varying nature to the engineer and seven passengers resulted today when, in a dense fog, the northbound train of the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway, crashed into a stalled freight train.

The fireman, M. Johnston, was trapped beneath the engine following the crash and was fatally injured.

HOLLYWOOD IS HIT

Hollywood, Beverly Hills and Santa Monica, in the foothills of the Santa Monica Mountains, were strewn with debris from some six inches of rain. The lowland section of Venice was flooded.

In this lowland area between Culver City and Venice, there was from two to seven feet of water, driving some 3,500 persons from 1,200 homes that were abandoned.

They were cared for in emergency tent facilities provided on one of the piers.

Others, Including Fishery Board Member, Convinced It Is Genuine Sea Monster—In Any Case Great Attraction for Tourists

LONDON, Jan. 1 (CP).—The question whether it is a monster sea monster or a "monster racket" which is threshing about in the cold waters of Scotland's Loch Ness was threshed out, today, in London's newspapers.

Several times in the last few weeks the press has duly noted reports of a monster cavorting in the otherwise peaceful waters of the loch. Now comes no less an authority than W. U. Goodbody, a member of the Loch Ness Fishery Board, to state that he, personally, saw the creature.

And is everybody upset?

THUNDERER IMPRESSED

Even the conservative Times succumbed to the monstrous urge, printing a picture of the purported sea serpent. Then came The Daily Herald, hinting darkly that it was all "a monstrous racket," saying Loch residents about the Scottish lake "fear only one thing more than the monster being at large—and that is that it may be caught."

The Herald elaborated on this theme, indicating that it believed the capture of the monster of the Ness would seriously detract from a growing tourist boom.

It was even said plans are afoot to build a "Hotel Monster" on the shore of Loch Ness to accommodate the curious.

CENTENNIAL OF TORONTO TO BE HELD

Hundred Years of Peace and Prosperity to Be Celebrated

PLAN FESTIVITIES FOR FOUR MONTHS

TORONTO (CP).—One hundred years of peace and progress will be marked in 1934 by a variety of celebrations in connection with Toronto's centenary year as a city.

Toronto can boast of peace within her gates, so far as the clash of military armed forces is concerned, for considerably more than the century. Not since 1813, when the United States forces took Fort York, now a nook of the city, have the guns of a foreign foe been heard in this vicinity.

LONG HISTORY

In the matter of progress Toronto has grown from the stockade settlement of Fort Rouille, in the French trading post days of 1750, to a Metropolitan population of 850,000 people—about 100 times the number of its inhabitants on incorporation as a city in 1834, when William IV was King. It is notable, too, the year 1934 is the 150th anniversary of the British settlement of Ontario by United Empire loyalists. The city will be hostess to other municipalities of the province whose representatives will gather July 2 to receive the envoy of London, mother city of the Empire.

Unique in the centenary programme will be the unveiling here July 4 of a tablet and cairn to the memory of General Zebulon Pike, the American commander who with several of his soldiers was killed by a magazine explosion the moment he took Fort York in 1813. This memorial will be erected by the United States Daughters of 1812, on the spot where the invading general fell.

WORLD INVITED

The Centennial Committee has invited the world to Toronto's birthday party, which will extend, in various forms of celebration, from March to September. Opening about March 6 with special religious services and civic ceremonies, the programme continues in April with a special music week.

Events of a military character, revolving around the restoration of Fort York, will take up three days beginning May 24, Queen Victoria's birthday. An elaborate celebration, concentrating at Exhibition Park, is announced for a three-day period around Dominion Day, July 1. Pageantry and music will continue through August with the climax of the programme at the Canadian National Exhibition early in September.

Camera Records Events of Importance in Many Lands During 1933

HERE are the highlights on the year 1933 in picture. The year witnessed many tragedies, many comedies; it saw many feats of daring; it witnessed many political changes, a score of new plans for getting the world out of the depression. Reading from left to right across the top of the layout (and the pictures are not in order of importance) we see Lord Macmillan, English economist, who headed a commission which recommended a central bank in Canada. Then James S. Woodsworth, who established political history in Canada when he called the first convention of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation in Regina last Summer. Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald, next, Prime Minister of Great Britain, was the chief force behind the World Economic Conference held in London. Locking up at the sky are Captain James Mollison and Mrs. Mollison, who made an east-west Atlantic flight which ended in a crash. Another epic flight was that of Italo Balbo, who led the great Italian air armada from Rome to Chicago. At the extreme right is a young lady sipping champagne, which typifies the repeal of prohibition in the United States. The lower part of the layout starts with the late Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, Canada's wartime commander. The crash of the Akron, United States dirigible, cost the lives of seventy-four men and was probably the outstanding tragedy of the year. The wreckage is shown. More wreckage is shown in the next picture of a home destroyed in the California earthquake, which took about 120 lives. Inset at this point is Wiley Post, who established a new record for round-the-world flights, and Hon. R. C. Matthews, who took over the duties of Minister of National Revenue in the Canadian Cabinet. Next in order is Mayor Cermak, of Chicago, who was killed in an attempted assassination of President-Elect Roosevelt at Miami, Fla. The rise to power of Hitler in Germany is shown next. He became Chancellor early in the year and Germany has been front page news ever since. Last in line is the inauguration of Franklin Delano Roosevelt as President of United States.

UNPRECEDENTED RAINS SEND MUDDY TORRENT DOWN UPON LOWLANDS

sider plans for relief of homeless victims in that area, which he estimated at between 1,000 and 1,500.

Tragic scenes were enacted in the boiling debris strewn by waters of the arroyos on the sides of which homes had been built in the dry seasons.

The body of four-year-old Marylin Ghoslin, daughter of Ray F. Ghoslin, Glendale, was found in the verdugo wash near Brand Boulevard, the centre boulevard of that city.

Not far away was found the body of an unidentified expectant mother, about forty years of age.

CASUALTY LIST

A revised list of dead and missing persons in the Southern California rainstorm was issued tonight by authorities. Thirty bodies have been recovered, thirteen of them unidentified. Twenty-five other persons were reported as missing.

THE DEAD

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Moore and daughter, Martha, seven, San Gabriel; Sherman Hubbard and Toots Hubbard, brother and sister, Wilmington, occupants in the Moore machine; Mrs. Dorothy Carter, forty, Monterey Park; Marylin Ghoslin, four, Glendale; Mrs. Myrtle Adams, thirty-five, Montrose; Elmwood Plumb, fifty-five, Long Beach, body found near Glendale; Clyde Dowell, thirty, Tujunga; Frank Gereghty, forty-five, North Hollywood; Mrs. Phyllis L. Rheil, Montrose.

Mrs. Margaret Smith, fifty-two, La Crescenta, death due to heart attack; Clark Harmon, thirty-five, Montrose; Sam Wilson, ten, Montrose; Betty Lorraine Klaas, ten months, Montrose; Chester Herrera, San Fernando; Mrs. Vera Kahn, forty, La Crescenta; Homer Higley, Montrose.

UNIDENTIFIED DEAD

Man, about seventy, drowned under bridge, near Van Nuys; man, drowned at C.W.A. Camp, Tujunga; woman, about forty-five, wedding ring with initials R.S. to E.E.B.; youth, about twenty, Glendale; woman, forty-five, body found in stream; man, thirty-five, Glendale; two-year-old girl, nude body found near Opechee Way; girl, eight, torso found in Montrose; woman, fifty-five, Montrose; boy, twelve, Montrose; boy, sixteen, Glendale.

THE MISSING

George R. L. Young, Montrose; Virginia Pulliam, twenty-two, Los Angeles; Phyllis Brooks, eighteen, Los Angeles; three unidentified men, believed to have been drowned as a freight car plunged into Los Angeles River, near San Fernando.

Joan McDonald, six weeks, Los Angeles; Edith Warfield, six and Charles Warfield, fifteen, brother and sister, Montrose; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Higley, Montrose; Mrs. Eva Thomas, Montrose; boy named Correa, Montrose; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kniffin, Montrose; Marshall Gray, Montrose; Ida Hamilton, forty-five, Montrose; Peggy Hamilton, fifteen; Mary Hamilton, fourteen, mother and daughters, all of Montrose. W. Scully and wife, Jennie, of Montrose; Mrs. Clark Harmon, Montrose; Lorraine Nescher, twenty-five, Highland; Mrs. Ella McLean, sixty, Montrose; Mr. and Mrs. H. A. McKenzie and son, Lawrence Dunlap.

GUESTS DROWNED

Hesse opened the rear door and saw the back porch swept away by a wall of water. The house was near roaring Verdugo Wash.

"Everybody get out," he shouted, seizing his wife by the hand. As they plunged into the swirling waters the house crumbled and most of it was swept away. Hesse said he was confident none of their five guests, two women and three men, escaped.

He and his wife caught a floating tree trunk and swam to safety.

Another dramatic story told tonight was that of Chester Herrera, twelve, who was playing with Bobby Dungerson, thirteen, on a raft they floated in a flood. The raft overturned, plunging them both into the stream. Bobby swam ashore, but Chester was sucked into a storm drain and drowned.

BOX CAR TOPPLED

Matt Lane, fifty-three, transient, and four companions, were sleeping in a box car when the spur track upon which it stood was undermined. Lane and R. E. Smith jumped from the car as it tumbled into the river and were fished out by railroad employees. The others were not found.

Detective Lieut. J. C. Kriewald, on duty near Airport Gardens, saw a truck and trailer turn from a side street and plunge into a pool. He waded into the water, which came almost to his head and carried Ralph Shelly and his mother, Mrs. Helen Shelly, to dry ground.

"My dog," cried Mrs. Shelly. "My dog, he's still in there."

New South Wales Score 291 Runs For Two Wickets

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 1 (CP).—New South Wales made a strong reply to Queensland's first-innings score of 372, as their inter-state cricket match continued today, rolling up 291 runs for loss of only two wickets.

Allen, with 86 and Oxenham, with 51, Queensland's high scorers, were eclipsed when Don Bradman came to bat, for New South Wales, to score 122, not out. Kippax added 66, also unbeaten, and Brown scored 50. Bradman and Kippan were in a fine partnership, which yielded 150 runs within sixty-seven minutes, and brought the side's double century within two and one-half hours.

FUNERAL TODAY

The funeral of Mrs. Katherine B. Sims will take place, this afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

INSURRECTIONIST LEADERS BEATEN

Sinkiang Provincial Troops Reported Victorious on Border of Chinese Turkestan

MOSCOW, Jan. 1 (AP).—Sinkiang Provincial troops were reported victorious, today, over the forces of Generals Mah Chuin and Chang Pei-Hwang, leaders of a movement to create an "independent" puppet state in Chinese Turkestan.

The information was obtained in a dispatch from Bakhta, on the Soviet border of Chinese Turkestan, to the Tass (Russian) News Agency.

The generals were said to have sent a delegation to Urumchi to sue for peace.

Mah's position was reported weakened by an uprising of the local population in the easternmost portion of Sinkiang. Chang was said to be on the defensive in Northwestern Sinkiang, a province in Western China.

Saltspring Island

The dance organized by the South Saltspring Women's Institute and held in the Institute Hall, Fulford, on Christmas night, was a decided success, nearly 250 being present. The hall was prettily decorated with evergreens, green and white paper streamers. On the supper tables were miniature Christmas trees and the same colored paper streamers. A local orchestra supplied the music. The monster Christmas stocking was won by Mrs. Ross Young and the large box of home-made chocolates by Wilfred Douglas. Prizes for the balloon dance were won by Miss Ruth Stevens and Fred Morris, and the statue dance by Miss Margery Howard and Stanley Rogers.

Well Equipped to Enter the World

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 1.—The first baby to arrive here in 1934 will start life with a lot of accessories.

Among eighteen prizes being offered are a case of soda pop, a five-dollar bill, thirty-one quarts of milk, five gallons of gas, a quart of oil (unspecified if castor), enough wallpaper to paper his nursery, $1 credit on his first gas bill, and an alarm clock.

TRIAL PROHIBITED BY HIGH COURT ORDER

CAMPAIGN AGAINST JAZZ AND PAGANISM

DUBLIN, Jan. 1 (AP).—The Irish Free State's campaign of disapproval against jazz dancing received official support today from Cardinal McRory and President Eamon de Valera, who sent messages of approvel to a big meeting at Mohill.

The aim of the meeting was proclaimed on banners inscribed "Down with jazz and paganism."

SCORES OF WINDOWS SHATTERED BY BLAST

BREGNEZ, Austria, Jan. 1 (AP).—A bomb which ushered in the new year here shattered 180 windows in headquarters of the Provincial Government and nearby buildings and threw the city into an uproar.

Four Jewish Drivers Attacked by Bedouins

JERUSALEM, Jan. 1 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—Attacked by a band of Bedouins armed with sticks and stones, four Jewish tractor drivers were wounded today, two of them seriously. They were removed to a hospital at Hedera.

NOTED DOCTOR DEAD

COLLEGE AWAITS DEPRESSION END

University of Montreal Buildings on Site of Mount Royal Untouched Since 1931

MONTREAL (CP).—"A monument to depression," is the description given to the new buildings of the University of Montreal, construction of which was started in 1929 and on which not an hour's work has been done since 1931.

Protection works have been carried out to save the cluster of buildings, erected on the side of Mount Royal, from the ravages of Winter, but no advance has been made towards the ultimate goal since the Fall of 1931. And the suspension of activity in constructing the buildings may go on indefinitely, Mgr. V. J. Piette, rector, believes. "The work will be resumed when governments have more money," is his reply when questioned on the project.

PROTECT STRUCTURE

Today the untenanted temple of learning faces its third Winter. The regular sounds of labor caused by starting works to protect the buildings from the raw winds that sweep across the mountain, sounds which have become an annual event, have once more shattered the silence that usually wraps the district. The modern heating plant, which is necessary to prevent frost from ruining the work already concluded, must be put in working order for the Winter, even though the buildings are unusable.

The university as it stands today represents an expenditure of $5,500,000, and an additional $2,500,000 must be spent before it can be completed. The question in the minds of authorities is—when will the depression be dead enough to justify a monument and the $2,500,000 still needed be available?

TOWED INTO HARBOR

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Jan. 1 (AP).—The Weyerhaeuser Intercoastal steamer Heffron, which lost her propellor Sunday 1,100 miles south of here, was towed today to Manzanillo by the Norweglan motorship Fernclift.

ICE CAUSES DERAILMENTS

OTTAWA, Jan. 1 (CP).—Heavy ice on the rails caused several derailments of New Year's Day trains in the Ottawa district, on both the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific systems. No injuries were suffered by the passengers or crews.

ESCAPE FROM BURNING SHIP

Fishermen Safe—Schooner Grounds, Then Takes Fire

CANSO, N.S., Jan. 1 (CP).—Safe after a perilous row through drifting ice floes, twenty-nine seamen of the Gloucester fishing schooner Catherine rested in Canso, tonight, while the wreckage of their fire-swept vessel smouldered on Bald Rock Shoal.

Across the slob ice of Chedabucto Bay, Captain Archie MacLeod and his crew could see their ship—a dismasted hulk, burned to the water's edge. She had struck last night, and in less than an hour fire roared through her planking as the seamen pushed shorewards in the dories through the thick ice.

Weather was thick as she headed in for Canso harbor on the way home from the fishing grounds, and Captain MacLeod was steering almost blindly through the pack when his craft ran against the hidden ledge.

DON MORRISON PASSES AWAY

Prominent Island Sportsman Succumbs to Long Illness at Nanaimo

NANAIMO, Jan. 1.—Don Morrison, fifty-five, died here, today, following an illness of nearly three months. He was a native of Nova Scotia, and had been prominent in Island sport circles for many years. At one time he played goal for the Ladysmith football team, when football was at its best on the Island.

When Manager Jimmy Adam, of Victoria, took the Canadian All-Star team to New Zealand, he selected Don Morrison as official trainer of the team.

Mr. Morrison leaves three brothers, Peter and Charles, of Nanaimo, and Arthur, of Ladysmith; also one sister, Mrs. Wheeler, of Ladysmith.

The funeral service will be held here, at 2 p.m., on Tuesday, with interment in the family plot at Ladysmith.

Dog Holds Vigil Over Dead Hunter

WENATCHEE, Wash., Jan. 1 (AP).—Instantly killed by the accidental discharge of his shotgun while he was hunting, the body of Percy Carey, twenty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Carey, of Cashmere, was found late last night by his father in an irrigation ditch. The boy's dog had been holding vigil for hours in the snow beside the cold body.

Canadian Whisky Quota Increased

NEW YORK, Jan. 1 (CP).—Joseph H. Choate, Jr., director of the Federal Alcohol Control Administration, has decided to admit 23,000,000 gallons of Canadian whiskies into the United States, half of the increased supply to be for beverage purposes and the rest for authorized blending and rectifying, it was learned here today.

The new importation, it is understood, would be in addition to the initial quota allotted Canada.

Freighter Grounds On Oregon Shore

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 1 (AP).—The freighter San Pedro, of the McCormick coastwise fleet, grounded today on a sand spit bordering the Columbia River Channel near St. Helens, Oregon, about twenty-five miles from Portland. The stern-wheel tug Fort of Portland and the tug Henderson were dispatched to aid her.

Tin-Can Tourists Gather in Camp

More than 200 outfits—trailers, tents and house cars—bore visitors from thirty states, the District of Columbia and Canada to the annual get-together of the organization.

American Debaters to Pay Visit to Victoria

Bates College, Lewiston, Maine, Team Will Meet Local Representatives—Appeal for Speakers Made by Service Clubs Council

Victoria will be visited this year by two members of the famous debating team from Bates College, Lewiston, Maine. One of these is Frank S. Murray, of Auburn, Maine, whose grandfather is a physician in Sackville, N.B., where he has practised his profession for more than fifty years. The other member of the debating team is Theodore I. Seamon, of Lewiston, Maine.

The visit of these debaters to Victoria is being made possible through the efforts of the Service Clubs Council of the city. It is part of the Canadian tour of the two debaters from Bates College, which is to include points from Halifax to Victoria, with debates staged at each of the points visited. The tour of Canada is made possible through the services of the National Federation of Canadian University Students.

PROVIDE TWO DEBATERS

On their visit to Victoria a debate will be arranged with a local team. The Service Clubs Council is anxious to have a team selected here to meet the visitors and is asking any organization that is prepared to provide two debaters to get in touch with the council so that at as early a date as possible a preliminary debate may be arranged among the local contestants with the idea of making selection of the contestants who will uphold the honor of Victoria.

The subject which the council has selected is contained in the resolution "Resolved that this house deplores the spirit of economic nationalism."

The visiting team will take the negative side of the resolution. Any contestant who wishes to enter in what should be a highly educational contest should get in touch with Percy Watson or any other member of the Service Clubs Council without delay as it is desired to get the local competition carried out as soon as possible so as to be able to advise the date at which the main attraction will be held.

GREAT REPUTATION

Bates College, while not one of the largest centres of learning in the New England States, has a great reputation in connection with the debating ability shown by the pupils Fifteen per cent of the high school teachers of the New England States have graduated from Bates College, which ranks above the famous Harvard University in this respect.

Mr. Murray, of the team that is to visit here, is a member of the class of 1934 and is graduating with honors in English. He is president of the debating club and ranks high as a football player.

His companion, Mr. Seamon, belongs to the same class. He is a student of economics. He plans to enter the legal profession.

NEW COUNCIL IS EARLY AT WORK

Congratulations Conveyed to Miss Mary E. Lawson on Her Honors

The City Council of Victoria made a very early start in the new year in getting down to business. That body was called together yesterday morning when the newly-elected members of the council presented their credentials and formally took their places at the board.

Following the seating of the members, His Worship Mayor David Leeming extended to all, wishes for a happy New Year, expressing the hope that world conditions would take a decided turn for the better, and that the clouds that had been hovering over so many citizens might clear away.

The council passed a resolution calling for the extending of congratulations of the body to Miss Mary E. Lawson on her being included in the list of New Year's honors, being created a member of the Order of the British Empire.

VALUABLE SERVICES

Reference was made to the long and valuable services which Miss Lawson had given as the active head of the Friendly Help Society in this city, from which position she retired only a short time ago.

Congratulations will be conveyed also, it was decided, to others in British Columbia who are made the recipients of similar honors.

On motion of Alderman John Worthington, the thanks of the council will be conveyed to ex-Alderman Robert Smith for his excellent work in connection with the hamper fund drive for unemployed, during the holiday season.

Important Announcement

Vancouver Island Motorists

Important announcement to automobile owners operating private passenger cars. Reduction of 10% in automobile rates, and in addition, a "No-Claims" bonus to the careful driver.

Board Insurance Companies announce that effective January 1, 1934, on all new and renewal business they will grant the following reductions in Public Liability and Property Damage premiums:

To drivers who have had no claims under these coverages for the past year's operation, 10% discount; for the past two years' operation, without claims, 15% discount; for the past three or more years' operation, without claims, 20% discount.

Premium for extending the policy to include the passenger hazard has been increased to $2.00. This increase is necessary to meet, in part, the number and amount of passenger claims. It is, however, more than offset by the general reduction in premiums for other coverages. A driver qualifying for the "no-claims" bonus pays considerably less than during the past year.

All Board Agents are in a position to advise you concerning the reduced rates and "no-claims" bonus, which is a new feature in automobile insurance in British Columbia.

NEW FIVE-YEAR PLAN LAUNCHED

Moscow Prepares to Make Intense Effort to Boost Production

MOSCOW, Jan. 1 (AP).—Details of a new industrial five-year plan which in four years would triple the production of 1932 and under which Soviet Russia would be made essentially self-sufficing were announced Saturday to the Soviet people.

BIG OBJECTIVE

The project, so vast that in comparison Russia's role in pre-war industry seems insignificant and the first five-year scheme ended in 1932 is dwarfed, includes provisions for the completion or beginning of 447 giant enterprises and for the annual production of goods worth $51,000,000,000 at nominal values.

Vyacheslaff Molotoff, president of the Council of Commissars, and V. K. Kuibyshelf, president of the Supreme Council of National Economy, submitted the plan to the Political Bureau, which approved it, and will suggest its adoption by the seventeenth Communist party congress January 19.

It would allow for an increase as high as 837 per cent in the 1937 output as against that of 1932.

INDUSTRIAL AIMS

The extent of new building is seen in proposals to complete present undertakings and start new ones. These include 178 new coal mines, eleven iron mills, seven of which have been started; ninety-three oil cracking and forty-six refining plants; two copper works, four aluminum plants, two of which were begun under the first plan; fifteen cotton mills, eighteen knitting mills, eleven silk mills, and twenty-one shoe manufactories.

COMPLETES LONG TRIP IN STATES

Howard English Returns to City After Traveling 10,000 Miles on Motorcycle

After a thrilling 10,000 - mile journey on a motorcycle through the United States, twenty-two-year-old Howard English, of Victoria, returned to the city over the week-end. Mr. English set out from Victoria on his 500-cubic-centimetre machine in the middle of August and returned on Saturday.

Starting across the border into Washington, he traveled thence to Utah and through the central states to Chicago, where he spent two weeks at the Century of Progress Exposition.

From Chicago Mr. English proceeded to Niagara Falls via Buffalo and then down through the Eastern states, passing through Pittsburgh, Washington, D.C., Virginia, Georgia, Miama, Florida, New Orleans, El Paso, Texas, to San Diego and thence to the West Coast through Los Angeles and San Francisco, arriving back in the State of Washington just in time to meet the tail end of the floods which have been raging in that state for some time past.

ONLY TWO MISHAPS

His trip took him just four and a half months and was marred by only two accidents, once when taking a bend at Scranton, Iowa, at sixty miles an hour, and the second time when he crashed into the back of a bus in Idaho. He escaped from both crashes with nothing worse than a sprained thumb.

Features of his trip which stood out most clearly for Mr. English were an American football game between the Navy and Pittsburgh; the World's Fair; the cold of the nights in the Arizona Desert, where he almost froze in his sleeping bag; the flatness of Florida and the floods in Washington.

DIED IN ROYAL CITY

Funeral services for James Edward Kenny, who passed away in New Westminster, on Friday, will be held, this morning, at 9 o'clock, at St. Andrew's Cathedral, where Rev. Father Evans will celebrate Requiem High Mass. Interment will be made in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Y.M.C.A. DISPLAY INTERESTS MANY

All Classes Participate in All-Afternoon Demonstration of Activities

Interest with which Y.M.C.A. activities here are followed was manifested, yesterday, at an open house of the organization, when hundreds of relatives and friends of members viewed an all-afternoon programme of athletics in the gymiasium.

Practically every class and group of the organization, comprising hundreds of members, participated in the demonstrations. Visitors were greeted in the Y.M.C.A. lobby, decorated for the occasion by organization directors, who acted as hosts.

Under the direction of Archie McKinnon and Vivian Shoemaker, business men gave a display of volleyball, while the boxing and wrestling club produced a number of bouts, which were enthusiastically received. Badminton and tumbling followed on the programme, with freehand drill given by the preparatory boys' group. The junior group boys gave an exhibition of marching and apparatus work, and the junior employed participated in games. Using a gymnastic elephant and springboard, the junior leaders' corps went through a series of spectacular movements. Stall bars and basketball relays were employed in the demonstrations given by the intermediate school group.

Members of the young men's division and junior business men's class handled chest weights, and the programme concluded at 6 p.m. with a basketball game between the intermediate Y.M.C.A. team and the junior business men's squad. The score resulted in 37 to 24 for the intermediates.

TREASURER OF ONTARIO DEAD

Hon. E. A. Dunlop Fails to Recover From Long Illness

TORONTO, Jan. 1 (CP).—Hon. Edward A. Dunlop, Ontario Provincial Treasurer, died today after a long illness. He was one of the veterans of the Ontario Legislature, and a prominent industrialist of the Ottawa Valley.

Mr. Dunlop was born at Pembroke, Ont., in 1876, and was appointed Provincial Treasurer in September, 1930. Following in his father's footsteps, he was elected to the Legislature in 1903, representing North Renfrew. He was re-elected in 1905, declined nomination in 1908, and re-elected by acclamation in 1911 and 1914. He was defeated in the general election of 1919, when the United Farmer-Labor coalition attained power.

He returned as member for his old constituency in 1928, and was re-elected by acclamation in the general election of 1929. In December of 1928, he was appointed minister without portfolio in the Ferguson Cabinet, and two years later became treasurer.

His widow, three daughters and one son survive.

either knighted or raised to the peerage.

Knight Grand Cross of the Order of St. Michael and St. George (addressed "sir") Rt. Hon. Lyman P. Duff, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada.

MADE COMPANIONS

Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, Arthur Beauchesne, veteran clerk of the House of Commons; R. W. Breadner, former Canadian Commissioner of Customs, Saturday appointed tariff adviser to the Finance Ministry; Thomas Mulvey, formerly Under-Secretary of State; H. H. Rowatt, formerly Deputy Minister of the Interior.

WOMEN HONORED

Commanders of the Order of the British Empire:

Dr. Helen MacMurchy, formerly chief of the child welfare division of the Dominion Department of Health; Miss E. C. Rayside, superintendent of the Hamilton General Hospital; Miss E. L. Smellie, chief of the Victorian Order of Nurses of Canada; Miss Charlotte Whitton, executive director of the Canadian Council on Child Welfare; Mrs. Laura Wood, for educational services in New Brunswick; Miss Laura Holland, Vancouver, for developing outpost welfare services.

MEMBERS OF ORDER

Miss R. M. Davies, for educational work in the Skeena, British Columbia district; Miss Nanay Dunn, Sunset Prairie, B.C., nursing outpost for the Peace River; Miss M. E. Lawson, Victoria, on retirement from a lifetime of community work.

The full list included five new peers, three privy councillors, four baronets and twenty-eight knights, with a long list of minor honors.

LORD PRIVY SEAL

Apart from the honors list proper, Hon. Anthony Eden, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, is appointed Lord Privy Seal. This is usually a Cabinet post but Eden is not raised to Cabinet rank. It is expected he will resign his post as Under-Secretary but that acting under Sir John Simon, the secretary will continue to do foreign office work, especially in connection with the League of Nations.

At present Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin is Lord Privy Seal and Lord President of the council, and he will retain the latter title.

The five new peers are:

Sir Evelyn Cecil, former Conservative member of Parliament, for political and public services; Godfrey Elton, member of the executive of the National Labor Committee, whose elevation strengthens National-Labor representation in the House of Lords; Sir Bertram Falle, Member of Parliament for Portsmouth for twenty-three years; Sir William Morris, director of the motor firm bearing his name, and Sir Douglas Newton, Parliamentarian and agricultural adviser to the British Delegation at the Ottawa Imperial Conference.

PRIVY COUNCILLORS

Two of the three Privy Councillors are Indians—His Highness the Aga Khan, spiritual leader of the Moslems, and Sir Tej Behadur Sapru, leader of the Hindus. Both receive their honors for their efforts in welding the new constitution proposed for India. The third is Lord Stanley, Parliamentary Secretary to the Admiralty.

A distinguished accountant in the person of Sir William McLintock, gets a baronetcy for his work in a dozen different public departments. William Gilbertson, engineer who drove the Royal Scot through Canada and the United States, gets a medal in the Order of the British Empire. Commander Britten, of the Berengaria, and Cedric Hardwicke, the actor, are both knighted.

LIBERAL LEADER OPPOSED

OTTAWA, Jan. 1 (CP). — Direct opposition to restoration of titles in Canada was expressed here by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King. The Liberal leader, in a press statement, said an attempt "to create in Canada a social order, based on titular distinctions, is not only unwise and inconsiderate—it is both rash and unjust."

Especially in this day of unemployment and distress in Canada and revolutionary tendencies in many countries, to restore titles was "one more instance of how remote from realities the present Administration is in its conduct of public affairs and how far from understanding the country's real problems and needs." And to nominate Canadians for titles without Parliament passing on the merits of the step, especially in view of the anti-titles resolution, passed in 1919, was an affront to Parliament.

TAKING IT SERIOUSLY

Goodbody's testimony acted as a spark to touch off a serious discussion of a phenomenon which previously had been the topic of newspaper funsters and persons who lingered over their afternoon tea well into the cocktail hour.

The fishery board member averred he peered through binoculars to get a close-up view of what he described as "a long, dark object" bearing eight or nine humps which hove to in the lake, 400 yards offshore.

And still there are those who scoff!

SELECTED FOR POST

Miss Lawson was born in Halifax, Nova Scotia. She came here as a young woman, and in 1895, when the Friendly Help Association was formed, was already so well recognized for her philanthropic interest and her sympathy with social welfare work that she was almost automatically selected for the post of honorary secretary at the inaugural meeting.

For fifteen years she continued in that role, until, in 1911, the office of paid secretary was created, owing to the increased importance of the work. Again she was the logical choice for the office, and the appointment went through without competition. From that time down to her retirement in April, 1932, she continued to fulfill the duties with singular sympathy and efficiency.

HUMANITARIAN ATTITUDE

One of the highest testimonials to the kindness of spirit which animated her throughout was the general regret felt by the beneficiaries of the Friendly Help on her withdrawal from the work, while on the other hand the City Council and the numerous contributors to the organizations have at all times been deeply appreciative of the conscientious and humanitarian attitude she has shown in her associations.

The City Council, yesterday morning, as one of its first official acts of the new year, passed a vote of congratulation to Miss Lawson, Alderman P. R. Brown recalling that in 1928 she had been awarded the Native Sons' and Daughters' Appreciation Medal for Good Citizenship for that year. The presentation, it may be recalled, was made by Mayor Carl J. Pendray during the Dominion Day patriotic services at the Parliament Buildings.

Mrs. S. Metcalfe Taken by Death In City Hospital

Mrs. Sarah Metcalfe, a pioneer of Nanaimo and resident of Vancouver for the past twenty years, passed away on Sunday at St. Joseph's Hospital, aged seventy-one years. Mrs. Metcalfe was born in West Bromwich, England, and came to Nanaimo fifty-one years ago.

She is survived by three sons, Joseph G., William and George Metcalfe, all of Vancouver, and one daughter, Mrs. C. A. Peck, of Victoria.

The remains are being forwarded by Hayward's B.C. Funeral Company this afternoon to Vancouver for services and interment.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

HAVING FAITH IN ONE'S PARTNER'S BIDS

A foundation of strong defence against opponents who employ bluff and semi-psychic bids of all kinds is in an effort to keep you out of your proper declaration is to believe your partner's calls and not those of the enemy. In other words, particularly when you are vulnerable and the opponents are not and bid the hand accordingly.

West, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
East and West—60.

	♠ A 7 ♡ K Q 9 8 7 6 5 ◇ K 3 2 ♣ 10
♠ K 9 8 5 4 ♡ 2 ◇ Q 8 ♣ K Q J 3 2	N W E S	♠ Q J 10 6 ♡ A 4 3 ◇ J 10 9 7 ♣ 9 8
	♠ 3 2 ♡ J 10 ◇ A 6 5 4 ♣ A 7 6 5 4

The bidding: (Figures after bids refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

West	North	East	South
1♠(1)	Dbl.(2)	2♠	3♣(3)
Dbl.(4)	3♡(5)	Pass	4♡(6)
Pass	Pass	4♠(7)	Dbl.(8)
Pass	Pass	Pass

1—West was an aggressive type of player who liked to get in the first bid as often as possible. As a matter of fact, when there is a part-score, borderline hands should be opened if the distribution is good.

2—The correct bid. North is too strong to merely overcall with this hand. Unless North doubles first, South will believe that North is merely trying to protect the part-score.

3—South must make some bid with his two Aces and a five-card suit after North's take-out double.

4—West doubles, first for the logical reason that he feels certain he can defeat the contract, and second, to continue with his aggressive bidding in an effort to keep the opponents from pushing him too high.

5—North now shows his suit. With the distribution, including the singleton club, he cannot stand three clubs doubled.

6—South believes his partner and not his opponents. Plastic valuation plus complete faith enables him to make the correct bid. North, on his double for a takeout, must either hold a hand strong in honor strength, or, if it is not very strong in honors, one containing a good escape suit. From the bidding, South can mark North with at least a six-card heart suit. South's own holding of the Knave and Ten thus assumes importance, and he is certain that the two Aces will come in more than handy. The raise to game is made unhesitatingly, despite the fact that North may have overbid slightly because of the score.

7—The battle is not over. East, realizing when his aggressive partner fails to double four hearts that this contract must be more or less of a laydown, decided to take a sacrifice.

8—South has bid his hand to the hilt. With his holding of only two hearts, he cannot make a forcing pass and risk North going to five in that suit. He feels that the four-spade contract can quite certainly be defeated.

In actual play, East and West were defeated two tricks, due to a club ruff. Each team did its best, and the result was normal. North and South prevented East from bluffing them out of their just dues, and subsequently East and West took a very sound sacrifice which, without the ruff, might have been even smaller.

TOMORROW'S HAND

How can East and West bid their cards to prevent North and South from reaching their best contract?

West, Dealer.

THE VANCOUVER DRUG CO., LIMITED

"I do solemnly declare....

INDIGESTION

I tried everything to get relief. I even stopped smoking to see if it would help me but I continued to get worse.

A friend of mine recommended Fruit-a-tives and after taking them for a short time I began to feel much better. It was not long before I was entirely well and could eat anything without pain or after effects. My indigestion and constipation left me. I can not give enough praise for your wonderful medicine and have recommended it to all my friends.

AND I make this solemn declaration conscientiously believing it to be true and knowing that it is of the same force and effect as if made under oath and by virtue of "The Canada Evidence Act'."

Indigestion left him after taking Fruit-a-tives . . . man says in sworn statement

SOON after he started taking Fruit-a-tives Mr. Sansone's indigestion left him and he could eat anything without pain or bad after effects. In proof of this he voluntarily made the sworn statement printed above so that everyone will know what Fruit-a-tives did for him.

Fruit-a-tives bring the organs of elimination to healthy action. They act on the liver and intestinal tract, assisting the kidneys and skin to function normally and ridding the system of dangerous wastes and poisons—the stomach tends to become strong and well again. Fruit-a-tives help your body clear out elements that can and do cause indigestion — constipation —bad breath—sick headaches—or even more serious complaints.

Start Fruit-a-tives today. See how quickly they'll give you new life... new vigour. 25c and 50c at all stores where drugs are sold.

CANADIAN HONORS

No one, save those who are obsessed with the Communistic idea of the leveling process in human affairs, can disprove of the idea that under the British Constitution the King is the fount of honor. It is his privilege, on the advice of those who are constituted as his Ministers, to determine who is worthy of honor. In the case of Canada the selection made is that of Chief Justice Lyman P. Duff and Mr. Joseph M. Tellier for knighthood. Both are worthy representatives. They will bear aloft the dignity of the King's honors with all decorum.

From the local standpoint the award that has been bestowed on Miss Mary Lawson is of particular significance. She is made a member of the Order of the British Empire and the recognition is of significance. Miss Lawson well deserves the honor. She has been a hard worker in the interests of a common humanity. Her thoughts in this respect have been undivided. Miss Lawson was awarded the Medal of Appreciation by the Native Sons of British Columbia and this further honor, which has come to her from the King, is in the nature of a coping stone of recognition for the services that she has rendered to humanity. When honors are bestowed on such as she is there can be no dispute about their merit. Miss Lawson richly deserves the award she has received.

SHIPPING STRENGTH

The British Empire League has passed resolutions calling upon the Government to recognize the "vital importance of maintaining adequate forces for the defence of the Empire." It has urged also that there should be an entire review of the whole condition of the Merchant Navy. In this organization there is recognition of the need of a policy of prudent economy in every branch of national expenditure, but there is the utmost concern expressed over the status of the Royal Navy in relation to the Navies of other Powers. In the opinion of the British Empire League the time has come to call a halt to the policy of one-sided disarmament which is leading Britain nowhere except into great peril. In the matter of merchant shipping, Sir Robert Horne, one of the officers of the league, says:

"The industry that in 1920 provided Great Britain with £340,000,000 in invisible exports is today in a deplorable condition. Today tramp ships are only 50 per cent of what they were in 1913, and those of other nations have increased by 33 per cent. Two million tons of tramp ships are laid up in our estuaries, and 40,000 of our men are in need of employment. There is a definite trend towards declension of the industry on which Britain's whole life depends. It must lead to the greatest apprehension among those who looked after the affairs of the country. The shipowners of this country have always felt so strong in their own skill and power that they have been reluctant to believe that a condition of things could arise in which they must have aid from the State. Two or three years ago they rejected with contumely adventitious aids, which they now said they could not do without. Tramp shipping has come to so low a pass today that a proposition is being put to the Government, on behalf of that stout-hearted body of men, for at least temporary aid in the way of subsidy, otherwise what remained of their ships would be wiped out.

"There are certainly traffics in this world today where the voyages are subsidized so heavily by other nations," Sir Robert Horne added, "that I should not be disinclined to say to them: 'While you may have subsidies we shall have them too, and when it comes to a question of subsidies we think that we have so long a purse or even longer than you have, and if you are going to continue your subsidies we will run your ships off the sea.' What we demand is fair play. I think some very definite action ought to be taken in this way. We can also make stipulations in trade treaties in favor of a certain amount of traffic being carried in British ships, as we have made treaties already in favor of British coal."

THE DISTRIBUTION OF WEALTH

The flood of idealistic oratory that was poured forth by the C.C.F. revolutionaries in the recent provincial election campaign swept quite a number of people off their feet. The Socialist spellbinders drew two contrasting pictures, one of the hated capitalist economy, the other of the joy and felicity of the Socialistic Utopia which was to be achieved, not by the practical, old-fashioned methods of hard work and thrift, but magically by the simple expedient of wishing for it. The Socialist agitator had a unique opportunity and made the most of it. He put forth much energy in cursing the capitalist and all his works. Perhaps the reason why he expended so much eloquence upon this point was that he hoped thereby to conceal the obstacles that lay between his premises and his conclusion. His chief difficulty, and he never faced it, was to show definitely how the Socialists would go about the task of achieving a new Eden upon earth. In this Eden there was to be smiling plenty, low prices, high wages, low taxes, short hours of labor, and industrial peace.

Of course everyone is at liberty to indulge in the contemplation of social Utopias if he enjoys blowing soap-bubbles of that kind, but the capitalist system is actually in existence, a matter of fact, not of fancy, and it is at this point that the agitators overplayed their hand. No part of the blue ruin picture was painted in such sombre colors as that which represented a disproportionately large amount of the wealth of Canada in the hands of a very small number of rich men. In view of these exaggerations it is interesting to examine some figures relative thereto printed by The Ottawa Journal. Matters of fact are more temperately dealt with in official records than by ill-informed agitators.

The Journal says that according to official statistics the average amount of 151,000 deposit accounts in twenty-four loan and trust companies is $370, and that the average amount of deposits, debentures and guaranteed investment receipts in twenty-four loan and trust companies is $775. It appears that there are 2,821,876 policy-holders in twelve life insurance companies, whose average holding is $478.

How about the banks, the special target of the shafts of Socialist malice? It is well known that ninety percent of the money the banks handle is held by them in trust for the depositors. Are these depositors few or many, and what is the size of the account of the average depositor? The figures given by The Journal are illuminating. There are 4,460,000 bank deposits in Canadian chartered banks, the average amount being $413. The Journal's comment on these and other illustrative figures is a natural one: "So, come to think of it, wealth in Canada is fairly well distributed."

THE GREAT UNBORN

Herr Hitler is recommending larger families in Germany. He wants to make the race more populous and to build up its morale. There is in Germany a Department of the Government for Population Policy and the Cult of the Race, and it recommends large families. One argument advanced is that "under the one or two children system" many of Germany's most famous ones would never have been born at all. Bismarck was the fourth of six children; Kant was the fourth of nine; Schumann was a fourth child, and there are further instances in Blucher, Mozart, Schubert and others. Bach was an eighth child, and Wagner a seventh.

The official department recommends that every healthy couple who are married should have at least four children. The maximum is not fixed. On the basis of the argument of the "great unborn," in the case where child birth is restricted, the question, like that of decimals, can be carried to infinity. There is more and more state interference with domestic life in Germany under the present Nazi control.

THE ELFIN ARTIST

In a glade of an elfin forest
 When Sussex was Eden-new,
I came on an elvish painter
 And watched as his picture grew.
A harebell nodded beside him,
 He dipped his brush in the dew.

And it might be the wild thyme round him
 That shone in that strange, dark ring;
But his brushes were bees' antennae,
 His knife was a wasp's blue sting;
And his gorgeous, exquisite palette
 Was a butterfly's fan-shaped wing.

And he mingled its powdery colors,
 And painted the lights that pass
On a delicate cobweb canvas
 That gleamed like a magic glass
And bloomed like a banner of elfland
 Between two stalks of grass;

Till it shone like an angel's feather
 With sky-born opal and rose,
 And colors that no man knows;
And I laughed in the sweet May weather,
 Because of the themes he chose.

For he painted the things that matter,
 The tints that we all pass by,
Like the little blue wreaths of incense
 That the wild thyme breathes to the sky;
Or the first white bud of the hawthorn,
 And the light in the blackbird's eye;

And the shadows on soft white cloud-peaks
 That carolling skylarks throw—
Dark dots on the slumbering splendors
 That under the wild wings flow,
Wee shadows like violets trembling
 On the unseen breasts of snow.

With petals too lovely for color
 That shake to the rapturous wings,
And grow as the bird draws near them,
 And die as he mounts and sings—
Ah, only those exquisite brushes
 Could paint those marvelous things.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Old time will end our story;
But no time, if we end well, will end our glory.
—Beaumont and Fletcher.

Listening to the joyous, if not quite tumultuous, welcome of the new year must have aroused in the minds of thoughtful persons a certain amount of curious but profitless speculation. Of all created beings or things only man, with his alleged peerless intellect, takes account of the passage of time. All created beings and things of course respond in their feelings to the different seasons of the year. With the return of the sun the flowers begin to bloom, and the birds greet the "great orb of day" with songs of welcome and thanksgiving; but time is an abstraction which has no influence whatever upon their perennial or annual lives. The lower order of creation therefore has a distinct advantage over the so-called higher order of creation. Be the period of the lives of the lower orders long or brief, they enjoy it every minute. They live in the present; they harbor no regrets for the past or apprehensions as to the future.

* * *

Sometimes we believe it would have been better for mankind if the astronomers and the higher mathematicians had left it in the same blissful condition as the happy-go-lucky creatures and things of the lower order. And yet there are compensations for existing conditions. There are advantages, for instance, in taking thought of the passage of time. Entering the new calendar year, we are reminded of the declaration of the poet-philosopher that hope springs eternal in the human breast. Hope abounds throughout the world today that the new year will be a better year than the year that is gone. Such fond anticipations may not be realized, for the truth remains that no one knows what a year, or even a day, may bring forth.

* * *

But, whatever the future may have in store, the year 1934 is sure to be prolific of many highly interesting events. Many of the most interesting events which may be fruitful of results are in their nature experimental. In the United States they are trying a far-reaching experiment in economics. In other countries they are experimenting with matters which are both economic and political. There must be a few more turns in the whirligig of time before the full value of those interesting experiments can be determined. In Canada, as Mr. E. W. Beatty has said in his annual message, there is complete sympathy with the programme of the President of the United States, not only because the American people are our nearest neighbors and our most intimate foreign friends, but because when prosperity abounds in the United States there are always prosperous conditions in Canada.

* * *

As we enter the new year it is a fact that the prospects in Canada are more cheerful than they have been for many a year. There is no doubt at all that the tide in the business affairs of this country has turned, nor that, if we mind our steps, the ultimate result will be prosperous conditions which will be more permanent than they ever have been in the past. Three years of adversity, unless we are as heedless of warnings as the lower created orders, should have demonstrated that there are diseases of the body economic as there are diseases of the body politic and the body physic. The life of business should be as well ordered as the life of the community or of the individual. The fever of speculation is the greatest menace to the life of business.

* * *

Steady application to business in the case of the community and to work in the case of the individual is the surest antidote to the ills of hard times. There are no short-cuts to prosperity. In Great Britain and in Canada there has been no application of stimulants to the body of the economic structure. There has been no inflation of currencies for the purpose of imparting an artificial value to products. In the Dominions of the British Empire we have been plodding along in the old-established way, trusting to time and circumstances for relief from the depression. While the Governments of other countries have been hopping off the main highway into byways in the hope of finding shortcuts to the promised land we have stuck to the well-beaten paths and made real progress towards the end of the road.

* * *

One of the first interesting events of the new year is the announcement of the Prime Minister of Canada that the ban imposed upon conferment of Imperial titles and honors by our House of Commons in a moment of weakness which was mistaken for enthusiasm has been lifted. Why distinguished service to the State should not be worthy of some recognition or reward is something that no man or woman of common sense ever could understand. The ban, we suppose, was adopted at a time when a wave of anti-Imperial sentiment was sweeping over the country, stimulated by an announcement of Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King that at last he had succeeded in achieving the complete independence of his loved native land. Many of us do not attach a great deal of value to "handles to our names" or decorations. There is little doubt that Liberal politicians and the Liberal press will make some fuss about the new order of things—or rather the restoration of the old order—but the point of view of most people will be like the point of view of the giant Cornishman who patiently submitted to be beaten by his diminutive wife: "Oh, it pleases she and it don't hurt I."

LETTER OF THANKS

Sir,—Through the kindness of the Editor, we are permitted to express our sincere thanks to all those who voted for us in the last municipal election for aldermen. We are not a bit downhearted over the results. It merely gives us another year to demonstrate and finish our objective on a rockpile, for the recognition of the land will be the best starting point for the greater prosperity that will soon follow in country or city. Wishing you all a happy new year.

Sir,—I reply to A. McGavin's letter in this column. We (Victoria Radio Listeners' Club) will be very pleased to accept the invitation to attend a meeting of the public works committee, if he will extend it to the club committee.

AT HORSESHOE BAY

Sir,—Some two years ago, I called attention in the press to an iniquitous piece of vandalism perpetrated by the authorities, and to the results that might be expected. Unfortunately my predictions have come to pass, and the end, I am afraid, is not yet.

I refer to the pathway cut into the foot of the promontory adjacent to Horseshoe Bay at Beacon Hill, and known as Finlayson's Point. This point, and the embankment at Horseshoe Bay is a natural breakwater and no one with even an elementary knowledge of geology and natural history would contemplate even a removal of the turf, let alone a deliberate undermining of the embankment. Nevertheless this was done and at considerable expense and the deplorable result is there for all who care to see.

In this age of jazz and carbon monoxide there may still be enough lovers of natural scenery to share my indignation at this atrocity, perpetrated, alas, by those supposed to possess some technical knowledge. Perhaps Robert Connell would be good enough to give us his opinion on this subject and suggest a remedy, if the matter is not, as I am afraid it is, irremediable.

What took Nature thousands of years to create has been destroyed, or, at the best, rudely disfigured, by man in a few hours. Whoever is responsible for this outrage should be demoted to a position more in keeping with his abilities—if there be such. The waterfront at Beacon Hill is one of the city's greatest attractions and is a sanctuary for the harrassed pedestrian and every effort should be made to preserve its amenities.

'Slams and Salaams'

By H. T. M.

Nineteen hundred and thirty-three now languishes on the scrap-heap, while the "babe," 1934, toddles in with festoons of blue ribbons and a nice new bonnet, etc.—and now, all that's necessary is to give it the proper feeding.

If we stuff it on social gloom and stupidity, the "infanta" 1934 will be a sallow, cantankerous old wreck by the end of February—but, if we feed it three times a day on a thick brew of common sense and optimism, there's no telling how plump and cherubic it will be before the whistles and sirens squeal at another New Year.

Conditions in most parts of the world are steadily improving. Granted, we have not yet returned to that fat state of opulence and prosperity wherein one can slip one's hand into the old wallet for a crisp sandwich of "tens" and "twenties" whenever the urge to spend is adamant—but, all over the country, factories are starting to rumble and quiver again, and unemployment is steadily "on the dwindle."

So, after four years of universal panic, pandemonium and despondency we seem to be crawling back to calmness. We've learned that too much business "on paper" is not too healthy—and a good many of us have discovered that it's a mug's game to buy on margin. Hence we can cleverly realize that if we don't do too many silly things before the next crash we've a chance for a small spot of fun before we get the "Hic Jacet" label—and even that's a comfort.

Tibetans are hunting for a new Lama. Now the Dalai Lama, supreme pontiff of 150,000,000 (only) Buddhists of Central Asia is believed by his followers to possess the soul of Buddha—so, of course, when a Lama conks out, fresh Lamas are very difficult to obtain at short notice. So difficult is it (apparently) to find another Lama, that in order to make sure that there's no chiseling or hanky-panky business about the next, the Tibetans resort to the simple and convincing system of tossing iron bars into a sacred lake—each bar bearing the name of some youthful potential candidate—and the iron bar that floats, indicates that the youth whose name it bears contains the soul of Buddha!

And it most certainly should! If anybody wrote my name on a crowbar which floated after being heaved into the middle of Lake Cowichan, I'd immediately think I was Mohommed (or at least Dean Inge)—but, thank heaven, that's not likely. However, one can't help feeling just a little bit skeptical about the Tibetan method of hunting up Buddha's soul—but, of course, Tibetan iron bars may have "that natural buoyancy" about them (so foreign to our own iron bars)—and who knows but that an occasional wooden one gets mixed up in the hardware? (If they don't, it's liable to be a case of "It's a long time between Lamas"—with apologies to the governors of North and South Carolina, who had similar difficulties with their drinks, so they say.)

Should cyclists be encouraged to at least slow down a bit at stop-signals, or is there a law somewhere that compels them to rip past such safety devices at about three hundred miles per hour???

Undoubtedly, it's tough on a cyclist to have to stop dead at a stop-signal, because that means complete dismounting (and probably in a mud puddle, too). Whereas motorists can squat flatly behind their wheels and just fiddle with a lever and then barge ahead again, while indulging in the same process.

Nevertheless, it's a bit befuddling when a bike leaps over your radiator from the shade of a stop-sign, and not many people seem to know whether cyclists have the legal right to excell in such caprices, or not.

So, we'd like to know about this—in fact, there are a good many other traffic questions in this town that could stand a little prying into—but the outstanding question we long to ask is: "In what other town on earth, do you find policemen trying to direct traffic from the edge of an intersection, instead of from the centre?"

That particular situation is positively ludicrous. It's a mathematical impossibility to direct four streams of traffic—some wandering north, some south, some east and some west, from the back-door of a double-crossing.

The logical and only place to maintain peace and equity among thousands of hurtling automobiles is from the "button" in the centre of an intersection.

I've a hunch there must be some stupid civic by-law preventing protection to cops in the middle of streets in this town—for I'm sure Chief Heatly's not particularly elated over the present system.

As is, 90 per cent of traffic can't even see the cop on point duty—whereas if they (the cops) were neatly balanced on a "button" the matter would be simple. (Do we get any action along these lines—or must we continue to climb onto the tops of our chariots in the middle of a "jam," and then sniff for the cop's directing glove, like a well-trained retriever??)

* * *

It's now about 4:30 New Year's Day, and the town looks rather like the "Old Grey Mare." But tomorrow or the next day, she'll begin to be more or less "what she used ter be" (and that's not too much)—so let's hurry and give the old burg her oats again, otherwise we'll all be bogged in abysmal and unending lethargy.

During the week between Christmas and New Year's you always feel you're just whiling away your last few hours in the death cell (you get "condemned" on Christmas; and the "execution" is set for New Year's—if you get my symptoms?) but after that you become re-born, and can at least imagine that you can get down to brass tacks again, and possibly do something very, very memorable in the future.

Of course, you never do. But that's just another joke to hoot at next year—and the hoot is liable to be just another hollow, mocking one—as per Life's sweet but unvarying schedule.

But don't let that chastise your innermost thoughts, ideals and ambitions. Great guns, no! It's all a big game. So whirl into it and laugh your fool head off at all its subterfuges and disillusions. Otherwise they'll give you the pip—and pips are never at a premium!

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock, add 18.8 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Songhees drydock, add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

A tourist, visiting a country fair, stopped by a merry-go-round. Presently he noticed a miserable-looking little man seated on one of the wooden horses. But what struck him as strange was that every time the machine stopped the little man made no attempt to get off.

At length curiosity overcame the tourist, and when next the man on the horse stopped opposite him, he said: "Pardon me, sir, but do you enjoy going round and round like this?"

The unhappy one grimaced. "Not a bit," he replied.

"Then why do you do it?" asked the tourist.

"The man who owns this affair owes me five dollars, and this is the only way I can get it out of him," came the reply.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of January 2, 1884)

New Year's Day—The last of the holidays is now over and everybody is trying to settle down to the work of the new year. The advent of 1884 in Victoria seems to have passed off in a very quiet and orderly manner. There was, of course, a great deal of shopping on New Year's Eve. On New Year's Day, when parties had been made up for skating and refreshments prepared, presto! the rain began to fall, making the ice extremely unsound. The ladies of the Woman's Temperance Union held a reception at the Temperance Hall, Pandora Avenue, which was well attended. The Blue Ribbon Club held a mass meeting, which completely filled its hall.

Serious Accident—New Year's Day was not without its tragic side. A man named Collins, aged fifty-five years, was skating on Skinner's Bottom, Esquimalt, when he tripped and fell, fracturing the neck of his thigh bone. He was taken home and attended by Drs. Helmcken and Davie, who set the limb. The man was reported as being in a dangerous condition.

James Bay Ward School—The James Bay Ward School has been completed and is now ready to receive pupils. The school trustees have power to appoint a teacher, which they will do at the next meeting.

Free Colonist—The editor of The Colonist wishes to announce that the January 4 copy of The Daily British Colonist will be given free to all who care to have one. See that you get one. Call either at The Colonist office or at your bookseller.

MARINE, RAIL and AIR

Infra-Red Ray Emulsion, Special Color-Corrected Lens and Filter Enable Navigator to Get Pictures of Invisible Objects

NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—A "fog camera" which harnesses the infra-red ray, and is designed to extend the limit of visibility of the navigator from two to four times, has been installed for the first time on any ship on the Ss. Manhattan, of the United States Lines. The camera will be an official part of the liner's equipment.

The instrument, which records on a specially treated infra-red ray film strip fog-hidden objects ahead of a ship, also develops and "fixes" the negative in thirty seconds. By pressing a button, which illuminates the negative, the operator or navigator may see the negative in the camera thirty seconds after he has taken the picture.

VISUAL RECORD

Thus, the camera, "staring" ahead into the fog, makes a visual record—at thirty-second intervals—of the ship's progress through fog, and may record for the navigator other ships, rocks or the shore line, which he himself cannot see.

The camera, which is patented, is the invention of Flavel M. Williams, master mariner, former naval officer, enlisted man and explorer, and inventor of several electro-mechanical devices. He has been experimenting in infra-red ray photography for some years, and has taken successful photographs of the towering skyline of New York from great distances. The United States Lines have been co-operating with Mr. Williams in his experiments with the fog camera, and Commodore A. B. Randall, captain of the Manhattan, and formerly master of the Leviathan, believes that "from a practical standpoint," the new camera will "be one of the greatest things we have, especially where there are no radio beacons" along a coast line.

INSTRUCTING OFFICER

The camera was installed on the ship on its upper bridge, Friday, before she sailed for Bermuda. Mr. Williams made the trip to the islands to instruct a junior officer in its use, but on future trips, the camera will be operated by ship's personnel.

The camera is trained ahead of the ship or in any desired direction and the relative bearing on the picture taken may be read from an azimuth circle, which can be installed on top of the tripod. A true bearing may be read from a compass, which can be attached to the camera. The invention uses a continuous film strip coated with a special infra-red emulsion, and exposure of the film is made through a special color-corrected lens. Inserted between the elements of the lens is an infra-red ray filter.

TESTS MADE

Tests Mr. Williams has made to date have resulted in photographs that have shown ships or other objects that were not visible to the naked eye.

"Where haze alone exists in the atmosphere, the range of the camera is practically unlimited," Mr. Williams said, "but where water vapor or solid particles (such as flue dirt) are in suspension combined with haze, the range is cut down in proportion to the amount of water vapor or particles."

RAIL DEFAULTS REACH NEW HIGH

Total Amount for U.S. Railroads Stood at $1,483,519,390 at Beginning of November

United States railroad obligations in default as of November 1 aggregated $1,483,519,390, a new high—comparing with high of $844,550,000 in 1916. Total defaults as of November 1, 1932, stood at $410,728,000; in the succeeding twelve months there was an increase of $1,072,790,490.

Outstanding defaults in 1933 which accounted for much of the accumulation during the year are those of the Rock Island, St. Louis-San Francisco and Missouri Pacific groups. These three systems show the following amounts of defaults in 1933:

Rock Island	$275,671,260
St. Louis-San Francisco	270,344,600
Missouri Pacific (including N. O., T. & M.)	420,236,000
	$966,251,830

Other large defaults in 1933 were those of the Central of Georgia, Wisconsin Central and Chicago & Eastern Illinois. In the case of the Wisconsin Central, controlled by the Soo Line, which, in turn, is controlled by Canadian Pacific, the first and refunding 4s, 1959, are not in default, the interest being guaranteed by Soo Line. Also, interest is being paid on the Central Railroad & Banking Company of Georgia collateral 5s, 1937, although the Central of Georgia, of which the issue is an obligation, has defaulted on other bonds of the system.

"What's your little brother weeping about?" asked the visitor.

French Seaplane Betters World's Distance Record

SAINT LOUIS, Senegal, Jan. 1 (AP).—The new French seaplane Southern Cross, designed for regular South Atlantic service, arrived here today after a non-stop test flight of 2,666 miles from Berre, France.

The flight incidentally bettered the world's seaplane distance record. The Southern Cross will fly to South America shortly.

Six seaplanes of the United States navy set a distance record on September 8 when they flew in mass formation from Norfolk to Cocasola, C.Z., 2,059 miles non-stop.

Willie—Now he wants to beat me down to six for a quarter.

UNITED AIR LINES CLAIM RECORD FOR MOST MILES FLOWN

Setting a world's record for commercial air transport operations, United Air Lines has completed its sixty millionth mile flight and its twenty-seven millionth mile of night flying, according to announcement of company officials.

The 60,000,000 miles have been flown over 6,870 miles of airways, linking forty-five cities in nineteen states served directly by United. Of the total, 40,000,000 miles were flown on the Pacific Coast-Chicago-New York route, which has become the world's busiest long-distance airway.

Seven years of scheduled flying are represented in the total mileage, although in 1933 the company's planes flew as far as the combined flying of the first three years.

LINER SAILS SOUTHBOUND

Santa Paula Out—Dorothy Alexander In—Niagara Here Outbound

Sailing for New York via California, Mexico, Central America, Panama Canal, and Cuba, the Grace Line ship, Santa Paula left Rithet Piers at 7 o'clock, last evening, with a capacity list of travelers aboard. The ship arrived here from Seattle at 4 o'clock and embarked a number of Island and Mainland passengers proceeding to various points in the South, several being booked for New York.

Making a fast run up the Coast, the Pacific Steamship Lines Ss. Dorothy Alexander docked at Rithet Piers at 8 o'clock last evening. The liner left Island and Mainland passengers here, and some general cargo, before proceeding to Seattle at midnight. The Dorothy Alexander will be here again tomorrow night on the way south.

Bound for Sydney via Honolulu, Suva and Auckland, the Canadian-Australasian liner Niagara will be here for two hours tomorrow afternoon. She is due to arrive at Rithet Piers at 4 o'clock, and scheduled to sail for Hawaii at 6 o'clock. The liner will embark passengers, take on mails and cargo while here.

From the United Kingdom via Panama and California ports, the Furness Line combined passenger and freight motorship Pacific Exporter was due at William Head at midnight yesterday. It was not definitely known by the agents, King Brothers, whether the ship would come up to Rithet Piers as soon as she was passed by quarantine officials or wait off the station until daybreak. On completion of business here, the Exporter will continue to Mainland ports. There are three passengers aboard, two for Victoria and one for Vancouver.

Small Return on Property Values To U.S. Railways

The Bureau of Railway Economics reports total net railway operating of Class 1 railroads in the United States for October at $57,264,780, which was at the annual rate of return of 1.71 per cent of their property value. Last year these carriers had aggregate net operating incomes of $62,784,037, or 1.87 per cent.

Gross operating revenues for the month of October amounted to $294,341,594, compared with $295,175,402 a year ago, a decrease of .3 per cent. Operating expenses in October totaled $204,094,438, compared with $198,057,764 in the like 1932 month, an increase of 3.4 per cent.

OPERATING INCOME

Class 1 railroads in the United States for the first ten months of 1933 had a net railway operating income of $398,238,658, which was at the annual rate of return of 1.77 per cent on their property investment. In the first ten months of 1932 their net railway operating income was $260,616,478, or 1.15 per cent on their property investment. This compilation as to earnings for the first ten months of 1933 is based on reports from 149 Class 1 railroads representing a total of 240,920 miles.

Gross operating revenues for the first ten months of 1933 totaled $2,592,440,961, compared with $2,632,798,757 for the same period in 1932, a decrease of 1.5 per cent. Operating expenses for the first ten months of 1933 amounted to $1,870,412,901, compared with $2,029,808,046 for the same period in 1932, a decrease of 7.9 per cent.

Terrorism Is Spread By Bandits Through Provinces of China

Gang Under Notorious Leader Has Long List of Murders to Its Discredit — Recently Sacked Swedish Mission

Just as twenty years ago the name of the bandit, White Wolf, spread terror through Central and Northwest China, so the name of the bandit, Sung Mu-Liang, now spreads terror through North Charhar and along the Inner Mongolian border, according to reports from Kalgan by the Reuter correspondent there.

Sung Mu-Liang is the leader of a gang of 700 Chinese bandits, who for some years now have harried this area, their activities recently becoming much more intensive and brutal. The gang has now a string of over seventy murders to its discredit and the name of the leader spreads terror whenever it is whispered that he is within fifty miles of any place.

The latest raid of this gang of brigands was at Gulchagan, in Charhar, when they sacked and burned a Swedish mission station, roughly 150 miles northwest of Kalgan. The area is practically entirely inhabited by Mongols. Fortunately all foreigners were absent from the station, greatly to the annoyance of the gang. They kidnapped two Mongols from the mission, severely beat them and, it is reported, killed one, the other being held for ransom.

KEPT PIPE GOING

When the gang arrived at the mission station the leader promptly secured one of the village girls to amuse him and keep his opium pipe going while he lay in the missionaries' beds and his men sacked the station.

It so happens that Gulchagan is a convenient spot for missionaries in Mongolia to dump their personal effects when going on leave or leaving their stations for other reasons. At the time of the raid, the household linen and other property in Gulchagan reported the property of no fewer than seventeen persons and all of this the bandits took.

Discarding their own broken and dirty clothes, the bandits dressed in missionary attire, first putting on all the women's underwear they could find. Then they ripped up the furniture in search of money and took everything of value on which they could lay their hands. This finished, they entered the mission dispensary, taking such medical instruments as knives and scissors, which might be useful, and then burning the rest, with dressings and medicines, the entire dispensary being destroyed.

They forced one of the kidnapped men to carry across his knees on horseback the dead body of one of their gang killed by a soldier's bullet during a fight the previous day. The other was set upon another horse and his feet tied underneath, a sure method of inflicting serious injury or even death if the pony should stumble.

FORMERLY SOLDIER

Sung Mu-Liang was formerly a soldier, state those who know him, running away from that business during the retreat of Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang through these parts in 1926. Some missionaries recall the time when Sung was more of a "gentleman" bandit, who sometimes called at a mission station and civilly requested tea and refreshments for his gang and then moved off to his business of caravan robbing.

The brigands apparently fear Mongol troops and rarely venture across the border. The activity of Sung has ruined Chinese trade out of Kalgan into Mongolia. Caravans now have to gather at fixed points to await military escort through a hundred miles of bandit-infested country. This they have to pay for heavily, with the result that trade is killed, whereas, through the pass at Kuelhua caravans of camels, donkeys, mules and carts pass backwards and forwards in great numbers.

Into the gang appear to have been incorporated all the worst elements of the forces in Charhar which from time to time recently have rebelled against the National Government. Sung is reported recently to have been wounded in a fight between his gang and soldiers, a stray bullet entering one cheek and passing out through the other without doing any serious damage.

ANNUAL RALLY SERVICE HELD

Pupils of Presbyterian Sunday Schools of City Meet in St. Andrew's Church

The annual rally of Presbyterian Sunday schools of the city was held in St. Andrew's Church yesterday forenoon. All were represented at the gathering, each group occupying a separate space in the auditorium of the church. The groups were from St. Andrew's, St. Paul's, Knox, Hollywood, Chinese Mission, Gorge and Lake Hill.

Rev. G. F. Cox, pastor of St. Paul's Church, presided. During the service the chairman called the roll of each Sunday school, which was replied to suitably with the singing of a verse or the recitation of a text from the Scriptures. Each presented a satisfactory report as to the progress being made in the schools.

The address was given by E. G. Marriott as the representative of the I.B.R.A. He explained that the organization which he represented made it a practice to read a portion of Scripture every day.

THE WORK OF LIFE

He stressed the importance of working together with God in connection with the work of life. If this were done they would find that God would work with them and the result would often be the accomplishment of wonders.

By working with God, they would find that God would reveal Himself by working for them.

The Scripture lesson was read by D. D. Muir, of the Hollywood School, and R. Scoble, of Knox School, offered the closing prayer.

HELD RECEPTION IN MAYOR'S ROOM

Members of City Council Were at Home to Visitors Yesterday Morning

Following the holding of an early forenoon session of the City Council, yesterday, the Mayor and aldermen retired to the Mayor's office, where they were "at home" to callers from 9:30 until 11 o'clock. The occasion was taken by naval and military officers of the permanent and militia staffs, as well as civil officials and citizens generally, to pay their respects to the city governing body and wish them the compliments of the season.

Hunt for Heads Not So Popular

MONTREAL (CP).—Fewer people are "losing their heads" in Borneo, according to Dr. R. D. Dingwall, surgeon-lieutenant of H.M.S. Kent, who in an interview here said the native sport of head-hunting was dying out in Borneo. Dr. Dingwall was passing through Montreal on his way to England after spending three years with the British fleet in China.

At one time, he said, it was necessary for the amorous swain to present the lady of his choice with a nice well-cured head in order to qualify as candidate for her hand. Although, he concluded, a few heads are occasionally added to the collections that may be seen hanging from the ceilings of the long native huts, the practice is fading fast.

NEW INSURANCE BONUSES GIVEN

Board Insurance Companies Announce Schedule of Rates for Careful Drivers in Victoria

Board insurance companies announce that, effective yesterday, they are granting the following reductions in public liability and property damage premiums:

To drivers who have had no claims under these coverages for the past year's operation, the reduction will be 10 per cent; for the past two years' operation without claims, there will be 15 per cent discount, and for three or more years' operation without claims, 20 per cent.

The premium for extending the policy to include the passenger hazard has been increased to $2.00. This increase is necessary to meet, in part, the number and amount of passenger claims. It is, however, more than offset by the general reduction in premiums for other coverages. A driver qualifying for the "no claim" bonus pays considerably less than during the past year.

All board agents are in a position to advise concerning the reduced rates and "no claim" bonus, which is a new feature in automobile insurance in British Columbia.

VICTORIA WEATHER

Alderman R. T. Williams called attention at the first meeting of the City Council yesterday morning to the fine weather enjoyed in the city of Victoria while other parts of the Dominion were suffering from extremely low temperatures. He said he felt that greater publicity should be given to these facts, and moved that a telegram be sent immediately to Hector Charlesworth, chairman of the Canadian Radio Commission, suggesting that Victoria's weather report be included in the regular weather broadcast. The motion was carried unanimously.

TO BE BURIED TODAY

Funeral services for Harry Gardner will be held, this afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock, at the Sands Funeral Chapel, under the auspices of Dominion Lodge, No. 4, I.O.O.F. S. Kennedy will officiate and interment will be made at Colwood Burial Park.

DEATH CLAIMS C. W. BRADSHAW

Well-Known Victoria Lawyer Succumbs After Long Illness

C. W. BRADSHAW

Legal circles in Victoria suffered a sad loss in the death of Clarence Wilton Bradshaw, B.A., aged seventy-six years, well-known Victoria lawyer, of 3065 Albany Drive, Sunday. Mr. Bradshaw had been ill for some time.

Born in Bedeque, Prince Edward Island, on August 27, 1857, the son of Joseph and Mary Bradshaw, Mr. Bradshaw received his education at Acadia University.

He was called to the Manitoba Bar in 1896, and practiced in Winnipeg from that time until 1907. He was called to the British Columbia Bar in 1908, and had practised law in Victoria for the past twenty-five years.

He was a highly respected member of the First Baptist Church. Mr. Bradshaw was an enthusiastic motorboatist.

Mr. Bradshaw is survived by his widow and two daughters, Mrs. P. M. Barr, of Berkeley, and Mrs. Maurice Green, Victoria.

Funeral service will take place on Wednesday afternoon from the Thomson Funeral Home at 2:15, proceeding to the First Baptist Church, Quadra Street, where service will be held at 2:30, Rev. G. A. Reynolds officiating. Interment will be made in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

LAST RITES TODAY

The funeral of Edward George Newman, who passed away on December 29, will be held, this afternoon, under the auspices of the Dominion Lodge, No. 4, I.O.O.F., at 2 o'clock, from the chapel of the Sands Mortuary. Rev. A. deB. Owen will officiate, and the remains will be laid at rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

"NERVES" she called it
—it was really her KIDNEYS

She tried to get through each day as best she could. Never comfortable—always distressed. Low in vitality—lower in spirits. She hadn't thought of her kidneys, until a friend suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills—for over three generations the favorite kidney tonic and remedy. Seeking relief she immediately took Dodd's. The "washed out" feeling was soon replaced by clear headed energy and restful sleep. Headache, backache, and other signs of faulty kidneys soon disappeared.

New Year Dawns Amid Hilarious Merrymaking

Hundreds Join in According Greeting to 1934 at Empress Hotel—Spectacular Scenes as Soloists and Dancers Make Their Appearance

Never has the new year been ushered in more boisterously at the Empress Hotel than it was at midnight on Sunday, when 700 happy frolickers greeted 1934 with joyous hilarity. Victoria attracted many visitors from the Mainland this year, and all entered heartily into the spirit of the occasion.

The carnival scene overflowed the main ballroom into the adjoining tearoom and foyer, with tiers of tables paralleling the dance floor and wedged into every corner of the space partitioned off for the accommodation of the guests. The decorative scheme in the ballroom was particularly attractive with red and white streamers and cedar boughs suspended from the chandeliers and flowering plants fringing the orchestra platform and a silver sunburst in the background. Chrysanthemums formed the decorative note on the supper tables.

The programme of entertainment was under the direction of William Tickle, who also conducted the twelve-piece novelty band for the dancing.

SNOWBALL BALLET

The snowball ballet which ushered in the new year at the stroke of midnight was an elaborate surprise. Vociferous applause greeted the rolling into the centre of the ballroom of a giant snowball, which encompassed the dainty personality of Miss Thelma Stratford, who, at the witching hour, stepped out of the white-encrusted globe and gave a spectacular solo dance, while twelve white-clad girls performed the skating waltz. The other soloist, who appeared in a jazz tap dance, was Miss Thelma Akerman. The group dancers were the Misses Kathleen Gregson, Hilda Jacques, Queenie Spencer, Winnifred Fallick, Hilda Lawson, Kathleen Mann and Isabelle McAlpine, all of the Florence Clough Dance Studio.

The programme opened with the march, "Entry of the Gladiators," and the international fantasy, "Hands Across the Sea." Ernst Impett, impersonator de luxe, appeared in character songs, and the Hill Billies contributed selections of old-time music.

A big feature of the programme was the special engagement of Mario Luca (Lyman Gurney), International tenor of Chicago, and winner of the Atwater-Kent audition contest in 1930, who magnificently sang, "Did You Ever See a Dream Walking?" and "Tell Me Tonight."

ETHEL Hole, in her attractive, befrilled gown and quaint Victorian bouquet, was the winner of the first prize for girls over six years of age at the children's fancy dress ball at the Empress Hotel. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Hole, of Moss Street.

City and District

Welfare Meeting — The regular monthly meeting of Saanich Welfare Association will be held on Wednesday in room "A," Campbell Building, at 2 o'clock.

Articles Stolen—Chow John, proprietor of the Royal Army Cafe, 547 Johnson Street, reported his place had been entered and two turkeys, one goose and two live chickens stolen.

Proud Parents—Mr. and Mrs. W. Norton, 3230 Albion Road, were receiving congratulations yesterday as the parents of the first Victoria baby to be born in 1934. The baby boy, welghing seven pounds nine and a half ounces, was born at the Jubilee Hospital at 4:45 a.m.

Ward Four Liberals—The annual meeting of the Ward Four Liberal Association will be held on Thursday, at 8 p.m., at Liberal headquarters. Election of officers for the ensuing year will take place, following which short addresses will be given by Byron Johnson, M.P.P.-elect, and others. All Liberals in the ward are requested to attend.

Chest Clinic Here—The Provincial Traveling Chest Clinic, Dr. A. S. Lamb in charge, will be held in the Spencer Clinic, Jubilee Hospital, from today until Friday. Examinations at this clinic are free. Those wishing a consulattion are asked to mage arrangements through their family doctor.

First Report—Noise has the distinction of being the first item posted on the police station bulletin in 1934. Early yesterday, a man living on Discovery Street called the station complaining he could not sleep owing to merry-making by six Hindus. The call was timed at 12:35 a.m. However, police officers investigated and found the fun-making had subsided.

"Fake" Accident—The first "accident" reported to police over the new year's period turned out to be a fake. It was reported that at 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning a woman had been knocked down on Blanshard Street just west of Yates Street. Police investigated and found the woman, afraid she might be struck by an auto, had thrown up her hands, screamed once or twice, and fell down. The car did not hit her, the police report stated.

Car Stolen—One of the unrehearsed incidents in the New Year's night programme at the Belvedere Hotel, Sooke, was the theft of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Robbin's Buick sedan, No. 8766. Mr. and Mrs. Robbins, whose home is at 1012 Pembroke Street, were guests of the hotel for the night, and while the party was in progress early yesterday morning, between 3 and 6 o'clock, their car disappeared. The police are working on the case.

CHURCHES HOLD NIGHT SERVICE

Old-Time Custom of Seeing New Year Come In Observed Here

Impressive in the quietness of the passing of the old year and spiritual in the message that went forth to welcome in the new, churches throughout the city observed the time-honored custom of "watchnight services," commencing shortly before midnight on Sunday and concluding just after the New Year dawned.

Attendances at most of the services were considerably better than in former years and the sermon subjects of ministers were appropriate for the occasion and carried divine blessings for the congregations and for those throughout the length and breadth of the land, coupled with the wish that 1934 would bring peace and comfort for the afflicted and prosperity and happiness for the nation.

AT CHRIST CHURCH

At Christ Church Cathedral, Very Rev. C. S. Quainton, Dean of Columbia, preached, the service commencing at 11:30 o'clock and concluding at 12:20. Special New Year hymns were sung and the Dean took the occasion to personally greet the individual members of the congregation at the end of the service.

At Oak Bay United Church, the regular early Sunday evening service was omitted and the congregation gathered at the later hour to hear Rev. Dr. Gerald B. Switzer preach a timely sermon, "Hello, New Year." Special music accompanied the service.

Fairfield United Church members spent a social evening following the regular Sunday evening service, and towards midnight attended devotional service in the church. Rev. Dr. Clem Davies, pastor of the City Temple, held a watchnight service beginning at 11 o'clock, the subject of his sermon being "My New Year's Wish for You."

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH

Services were also held at the Central Baptist Church, where Rev. J. B. Rowell preached on "Retrospect and Prospect With Christ, Alpha and Omega"; the Salvation Army, and the First Spiritualist Church, in the S.O.E. Hall, on Broad Street.

A number of the churches observed New Year's Day with celebration of Holy Communion and Sunday school rallies. At St. Andrew's Church, Sunday school children gathered at 11 o'clock yesterday morning for the annual rally, when Rev. G. F. Cox was the speaker.

CITY WELCOMES GLAD NEW YEAR

Crowds Gather in Victoria to Greet 1934 With Big Celebration

With the ringing of bells, blowing of whistles and the din of automobile horns, Victoria gave a vociferous welcome to the new year, when the clock at the City Hall sounded midnight, Sunday, and the chimes of St. Andrew's pealed out the familiar bars of an old hymn.

On the downtown streets crowds thronged the main intersections, waiting for the signal that would bring in a new year. On the signal of the passing of the old year, the happy, carefree multitude let go all restraint, and for hours afterwards the city was a bedlam of noise and merriment.

Crowds waited for the picture shows to open, while others rolled away in their automobiles to attend the social gatherings in homes and in establishments that opened wide their doors to admit gaiety in the form of cabarets, dances and New Year's festivities.

CROWDS GATHER

At the intersection of Yates and Douglas streets, the largest crowds gathered and watched the parade of automobiles passing and repassing, with their cargoes of pleasure-seeking boys and girls. The city rang with the merriment of a new year.

It was long after the midnight hour before the lines of cars began to thin out, but it was not until the coming of dawn that the tired merrymakers began to think of home. It was one of the merriest of New Year's gatherings for several years. It was a late celebration because of Sunday, but the pent-up feelings of the citizens were not loosened until after the legal hour of opening places of entertainment, which were filled to capacity, many of them serving breakfast to those who wished to continue the merry-making.

DEATH CALLS DR. DOOLITTLE

Motor President Was Pioneer of Cycling and Motoring in Canada

TORONTO, Dec. 31 (CP)—"Father of the Trans-Canada Highway" and one of the Dominion's first cyclists and motorists, Dr. Perry E. Doolittle died here today after a brief illness. He was seventy-two years of age and was born in Aylmer, Ont. Since 1920, he had been president of the Canadian Automobile Association, largest motor body in the British Empire outside of England.

At the age of seven years, Mr. Doolittle became the proud possessor of a home-made bicycle. Later he made a wooden bicycle with an eighteen-inch rear wheel and a forty-eight-inch front one. The backbone of the vehicle was a piece of gaspipe and it had steel tires. He built another from a bucket barrel and wire wheels, importing the tires from England.

On this bicycle he made a successful debut in racing, and between 1881 and 1890 won more than fifty trophies, including the championship of Canada. He built what was believed to have been Canada's first motorcycle. He raised the first Canadian good roads campaign fund.

Wedding Is Celebrated At Oak Bay

The marriage of Evelyn Dorothy, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy W. Smoothy, 2575 Estevan Avenue, and Mr. E. Hector Pope, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Pope, until recently of Vancouver, was solemnized in Oak Bay United Church yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, Rev. Dr. G. B. Switzer conducting the ceremony in the presence of a large number of friends of the bride and groom. Mr. R. Eaton presided at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked most attractive in her wedding gown of gloria blue French chenille cloth closely fitted to her slim figure. She wore a turban of white chiffon velvet with a silver grey veil, and silver slippers and hose and carried a sheaf of large white chrysanthemums.

Her only attendant was Miss Louise van Maastricht in a lovely frock of geranium red georgette worn with a white chiffon velvet coatee and a red velvet turban, who carried a sheaf of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

Mr. Harold G. Pope supported his brother.

An informal reception was held after the service at the home of the bride's parents, where the guests were welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Smoothy, the latter wearing a smart gown of black with a bodice of geranium red velvet and a gold-embroidered sash, and a black hat, and by Mrs. Pope, Sr., in a frock of beige Canton crepe and a black hat. They both wore corsages of bronze chrysanthemums.

Chrysanthemums in varied hues were used in the effective decoration of the reception rooms, and a beautifully iced three-tiered cake centred the refreshment table, which was arranged with vases of yellow bebe chrysanthemums. Miss Elsie Robertson and Miss Grace Attfield assisted in serving the guests.

New Year's Party Held At Uplands

At the Uplands Golf Club there was a jolly party on New Year's Eve, about 100 members and their friends according the year 1934 a whole-hearted welcome. A sit-down supper was served in the lower dining-room, and balloons, horns, serpentine and paper novelties added to the festive appearance of the party and the general jollification.

The committee in charge included Mr. D. Fletcher, chairman; Mr. R. L. Challener and Mr. W. J. Johnston. The club plans another dance on January 16.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Grant, Mr. and Mrs. G. Agnew, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. B. Shore, Mr. and Mrs. G. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Plant and Eric Jones.

Novel Stunts Presented at Beach Hotel

The party held at the Beach Hotel on New Year's Eve had many novel features and was one of the most successful of the private gatherings held. The lounge was festive with decorations and a musical programme was enjoyed until 11:15 p.m., when the guests, who numbered 130, adjourned to the dining-room for supper.

The first part of the programme was in the form of a radio broadcast, with dummy "mikes" representing main and local stations. Miss E. Florence enacted the role of Miss Dorothy Snitch, broadcasting valuable advice to the love-lorn, which created much laughter. The theme song for the evening was, "By a Waterfall," Mrs. T. Bowden singing the solo most effectively, the refrain being repeated at intervals throughout the evening.

NEW YEAR GREETED

The passing of the old year and the advent of the new was marked with a very novel stunt. At 11:57 p.m., Old Lady 1933, impersonated by Leonard Cripps, entered the lounge and made his way to a huge mortar. After climbing into it a mixture of vim, vigor and vitality, plus sand, was poured over him, and Frank Farrell, as Old Father Time, vigorously stirred the contents of the mortar with a huge pestle. The alchemy rejuvenated the inmate so that instead of the old lady, there emerged a charming Miss New Year 1934, impersonated by Miss Daisy Borrowman, who was greeted with loud cheers and the singing of "Auld Lang Syne." After supper, Miss Borrowman delighted the gathering with several solo dances.

A trio, entitled "The Flying Trapeze," by Messrs. Farrell, Cripps and Florence, created much laughter, they appearing in evening clothes (pyjamas), with candles alight.

BICYCLE STUNT

W. Florence then made his appearance riding a miniature bicycle and impersonating "Torchy" Peden. He gave a humorous description of his recent contest at Madison Square Garden, and was presented with a "loving cup from the citizens of Victoria," by Edwin Rowebottom, in recognition of his prowess.

James Williams made a most efficient master of ceremonies throughout the evening. Dancing commenced at 12:10 and continued till 4 o'clock, to excellent music.

Byron Johnson, M.P.P.-elect, in a brief address expressed the thanks and appreciation of the guests to the hard-working committee whose untiring efforts had contributed so much to the success of the celebration. The committee was as follows: L. W. Woodhouse, chairman; Frank H. Partridge, secretary, and in charge of refreshments; J. Williams, entertainment; Edwin Rowebottom, favors; A. E. James, properties; H. E. Gouldbourn, entertainment, and Samuel Winterbottom, reception committee. Bouquets of flowers were presented to Mrs. McDougall, the hotel hostess, and to the lady artists.

Small Boy—"How deep is that water!"

Stout Bather—"About up to my chin."

Receptions Attended by Many Callers

Although the old custom of New Year's Day calls has, to a great extent, been abandoned during recent years, official receptions are still held, and hundreds of ladies and gentlemen were welcomed by hosts and hostesses in the city yesterday.

During the morning, receptions were held by the commander-in-charge at Esquimalt, commander (D) Western Division and officers of the West Coast, in the officers' mess, Royal Canadian Naval Barracks. The chief and petty officers of the Royal Canadian Naval Barracks also received.

Major-General and Mrs. E. C. Ashton held their first New Year's Day reception at Work Point Barracks, and greeted a large number of callers. The officers' mess of Work Point Barracks, the officers' composite mess, composed of the officers of the 11th Canadian Machine Gun Battalion, 11th Fortress Company C.E., and the 11th Divisional C.A.S.C. received in the morning, and during the afternoon many callers were welcomed at the officers' mess, Canadian Scottish Regiment, at the Armories.

Lieut-Colonel T. B. Monk, V.D., and officers, 5th (B.C.) Coast Brigade, C.A., were "at home" at the Armories, in the morning.

Very Rev. C. S. Quainton, Dean of Columbia, held his customary "at home" for gentlemen, from 3 to 5:30 o'clock.

ANNUAL CONCERT

The annual concert of the Wilkinson Road United Sunday School was held recently, each number being enthusiastically received by the crowd which filled the church to capacity. Mr. N. McGillivray, the superintendent, acted as chairman, and during the evening encouraging reports on the year's work were given by teachers of the various classes. At the close of the programme, Mr. Pringle and Mr. Campion expressed, for the Church Board, their appreciation of the faithful services of the pastor, superintendent and teachers, thanking also those who took part in the programme, and the ladies who made and supplied the candy.

"Christians, Awake" was being sung as a carol, when a window was raised and a voice said: "Go away. Ye vast not Christians, and ye vas not asleep."

Governor-General Has New Year's Reception

Hon. R. B. Bennett, the Prime Minister, and Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King Among Others Who Receive—Foreign Ministers "At Home"

OTTAWA, Jan. 1 (CP).—Delightfully informal was the annual New Year's levee, held by the Governor-General, in the Hall of Fame, in the Parliament Buildings. Led by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Opposition leader, a number of official, diplomatic and ecclesiastical receptions followed.

Some 670 men of the capital filed past His Excellency in forty-five minutes, in the long line of those who came to pay their respects, and with each he shook hands. First to be presented were Mr. Bennett and Viscount Duncannon, elder son and heir of the Governor-General, and they immediately took up position to his right. Members of the Government, the diplomatic and consular corps, Members of Parliament and Senators, judges of the Supreme Court of Canada and Exchequer Court, church dignitaries, Privy Councillors and citizens of various walks of life filed past. The Governor-General wore a morning coat, in keeping with the informal atmosphere.

Mr. King greeted callers at his residence, Laurier House. Like Mr. Bennett's reception, many called at the home of the Liberal leader.

The United States Minister, Hon. W. D. Robbins; Sir William Clark, British High Commissioner to Canada; Hon. I. M. Tokugawa, Minister for Japan, and Hon. Arsene Henry, Minister for France, all held largely-attended receptions.

Bach Music Enjoyed at Cathedral

A very beautiful interpretation of Bach's famous "Christmas Oratorio" was given at Christ Church Cathedral on Sunday afternoon, in addition to this fine work being other interesting features.

In the oratorio, in addition to a number of very beautiful chorales, were the remarkably fine recitatives for the tenor, Llewellyn Jones, who sang with great impressiveness "Now It Came to Pass," "And She Brought Forth Her First-Born Son," "And There Were Shepherds," "And This Is a Sign," "'Tis Right That Angels Thus Should Sing" and others. Miss Nora Jones, contralto, also showed a voice of power and sympathy in her principal solo part in this same work, the beautiful "Prepare Thyself."

In addition to this major work, Vaughn Williams' interesting arrangement of Medieval Christmas carols was sung by soloist and choir, Llewellyn Jones, in the absence of the baritone who was to have carried the solo part, filled the role very ably, while choir and orchestra supplemented the fine harmony, with Richard Eaton at the organ. Acompanied by the orchestra, which has a fine volume of string tone particularly, Smyth Humphries, one of the city's principal violinists, gave a beautiful reading of Nardini's violin concerto at another pont in the concert and the programme was completed by the opening number for orchestra alone.

PARIS STYLES

PARIS (UP). — Coats! That's something we can lay on thick. Take Rodier's green and black Burdjar in a diagonal weave, for instance. It is soft and light in weight and warm. There are cream puff-like things perched on each shoulder made of the material and there doesn't seem to be anything that you could conscientiously call a collar. The coat just comes together and up on the left side near the shoulder are two huge tassels made of thongs of natural colored leather. These, together with a thong fastening at the waist, do all that's necessary to keep the coat together. It is straight in line and has plenty of room in the sleeves without their being overdone. It's an Alex Barton affair.

So is this next one, which is for more formal occasions. The material is in brown silk stockinet trimmed with astrakhan of the same shade. The fur starts right out of the neck at each side of the shoulders, widens gradually as it descends the arms and finishes finally in a bell-shaped lower sleeve which narrows again into a cuff at the wrist. The front of the coat is perfectly plain and fastens straight across the throat. The line is fitted through the body and no buttons or fastenings are visible anywhere.

TODAY'S FASHION TIP

Coats that look heavy but are light in weight and warm.

Lake Hill Institute Will Meet

The annual meeting of the Lake Hill Women's Institute will be held in the hall, Lake Hill, on Tuesday January 9. Business will include the election of officers and reading of annual reports by the retiring officers, president, Mrs. T. Currie; vice-president, Mrs. Walter Peddle; and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. M. F. Service. After the meeting tea will be served by the retiring board. A full attendance is requested.

I.O.D.E. Activities

R. B. McMicking Chapter

Members of the Robert Burns McMicking Chapter are reminded that the January meeting will be held at headquarters, on Thursday, instead of today. As nominations of officers for the new year will be received at this meeting, a good attendance of members is requested.

Mr. John B. Ashby, of Salmon Arm district, who is eighty-four years of age, has just undergone an operation on his eyes, and rejoices that his sight has been restored. Mr. Ashby lived in Victoria from 1896 and has paid frequent visits to the city since leaving to reside on the Mainland. Since leaving hospital he has been staying at the Pacific Club.

Receives Many Callers

SENATOR the Honorable J. H. King and Mrs. King celebrated the twenty-seventh anniversary of their wedding yesterday, and a most delightful reception was held from 4 to 6 o'clock at their Rockland Avenue home, "Kingscrag." Senator and Mrs. King were assisted in receiving their many guests by Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald and Mrs. Macdonald and Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Baird, of Vancouver. Mrs. King wore a most becoming gown of lipstick red crepe and a corsage of white roses.

The drawing-room was beautifully arranged with chrysanthemums in shades of white, yellow and bronze, and in the dining-room, where tea was served, the table was beautiful with a centre bowl of roses and red candles in old silver candelabra. Presiding at the tea and coffee urns were Mrs. F. E. Winslow, Mrs. Will Spencer, Mrs. Gordon Sloan, Mrs. Frank MacPherson and Mrs. V. G. Brodeur.

Social and Personal Notes

Party at Yacht Club

A New Year party was held last night at the Yacht Club in the form of a subscription dance, which was arranged under the convenership of Mrs. C. R. Scharff. More than 100 guests enjoyed all the novelties and excitement that accompany the commencement of the new year. A popular three-piece orchestra provided a lovely programme of dance music until 1 a.m. A sit-down supper was served upstairs in the dining-room, which was beautifully arranged with large white chrysanthemums and touches of red, which made the room very gay. Among those noticed dancing were Major and Mrs. G. Sisman, Miss F. Price, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Price, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. W. Tallamy, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. At Palais de Danse

The dawn of the New Year was heralded in novel fashion at the Palais de Danse. A crowd of about 300 spectators gathered outside the hall to watch the fireworks which were let off at midnight, and the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," in traditional fashion, proclaimed the birth of 1934. Dancing began immediately afterwards and continued with vigor until about 5 o'clock, when breakfast was served and more guests arrived. Balloons were released from the ceiling, whistles and "snowballs" distributed among the guests, and there was a lively time for everyone.

THIS charming little person is Adrianna Catherine van Alphen, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. van Alphen, of 640 Francis Street, and a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Spouse, of Humboldt Street, and of Dr. and Mrs. A. J. S. van Alphen, of Rotterdam, Holland. She is photographed in the quaint Volendam costume which was a birthday present to her from her grandparents in Holland, and which she wore to the children's fancy dress ball at the Empress Hotel, last week.

Yacht Club Is Scene of Festivities

The junior members of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club were hosts to about 150 dancers and merrymakers at the clubhouse on New Year's Eve. Supper was served at 11 o'clock, the tables being very prettily arranged with white chrysanthemums and red leaves. At midnight all the guests assembled in the ballroom, where the new year was greeted with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," the blasts of many trumpets and general rejoicing.

Among the dancers were Misses Mary Phillips, Shirley Wedderburn, Joyce Applegate, Mickey Lawson, Gladys Warner, Muriel Barnett, Carita Leeder, Eve Lytton, Margaret Hemmingsen, Ruth Carey, Sheila Sangster, Winnie Hayes, B. Annual Tree Held By Orange Lodges

The annual Christmas tree was held, recently, by the Loyal Orange Association and the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association, for members' children and the members of the girls' and boys' juvenile lodges, in the Orange Hall. About 150 children and adults were present. During the afternoon, His Worship Mayor Leeming attended and wished all a happy and prosperous New Year, and hoped they would all have a very pleasant time. Mr. Frank Merryfield and his daughter, Frances, entertained with a mystery show, which was greatly appreciated. Mr. Reginald Gerrard and M. Douglas Hull, accordionists, played selections during the afternoon and evening. At 4.30 o'clock the children sat down to supper, and afterwards the adults were served. This was followed by games and, later, Santa Claus paid a visit and distributed bags of candy and fruit. Mr. Thomas acted as Santa Claus. Mr. A. M. Gosnell entertained with harmonica selections, and Mr. G. Ingledew gave some of his popular monologues. Mr. A. B. McNaughton acted as pianist. Refreshments were in charge of a committee of women members of the three L.O.B.A. lodges. A committee of men from the L.O.A. lodges was in charge of the games and programme. After a very enjoyable time, the party was brought to a close by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

EMPIRE SCREENS ROMANTIC STORY

"Samarang" Is Lovely Story of Malayasia—Eddie Cantor Appearing in "Whoopee"

Secrets of the pearl diving trade are revealed in "Samarang," a beautiful romance laid in the Malay Straits, and now showing at the Empire Theatre as a United Artists release. Scores of graceful native divers are shown at their occupation of bringing up pearls from the depths of the sea. This action is contingent on the story, one of the most beautiful romances yet written into a motion picture narrative.

"Whoopee," the new Eddie Cantor screen musical comedy that is the added attraction, as the first product of the Samuel Goldwyn-Florenz Ziegfeld partnership, is said to represent the most advanced use yet made of technicolor. The sixty-four scenes of the picturized stage success are entirely in color.

GREAT COMEDY IS NOW AT DOMINION

"Havana Widows" Co-Stars Ruth Donnelly and Joan Blondell—Good Supporting Cast

During the making of "Havana Widows," now showing at the Dominion Theatre, Ruth Donnelly, an important member of the cast, was appearing in five pictures at the same time at the Warner Bros.-First National studios. That establishes a new record for a featured player, even in these days of high-pressure production schedules.

In "Female," with Ruth Chatterton, she was playing a secretary. In "Ever In My Heart," with Barbara Stanwyck and Otto Kruger. In "Bureau of Missing Persons" she was the jovial receptionist guarding the gate at that same bureau. In "Footlight Parade," her role was that of the overbearing wife of Guy Kibbee—just as it is again in "Havana Widows."

Joan Blondell has the stellar role in "Havana Widows," which is a snappy, wise-cracking comedy-drama of a couple of gold-digging New York chorus girls on the hunt for millionaires in the Cuban capital. Others in the cast include Glenda Farrell, Guy Kibbee, Lyle Talbot, Allen Jenkins and Frank McHugh.

AMUSEMENTS

On the Screen

Capitol—"Duck Soup," starring the Four Marx Brothers.

Playhouse—George O'Brien in "The Last Trail."

Romano—"The Sphinx," with Lionel Atwill.

COLUMBIA THEATRE Richard Arlen saw no future in the films a few years ago, and was all ready to give them up. His wife, Jobyna Ralston, persuaded him to give them one more try. The next picture was "Wings," and his success was startling. Since then he has made almost sixty pictures, his latest, "Hell and High Water," now playing at the Columbia Theatre.

CAPITOL THEATRE Humor runs rampant throughout "Duck Soup," now showing at the Capitol Theatre. The Marx-maniacs are involved in diplomacy this time. Groucho is a dictator, and spends plenty of time dictating to his secretary. Chico and Harpo are enemy spies. They never get tired of snooping in the kitchen. The Marx brothers have a lot of fun, and so will you when you see them. Some of Hollywood's prettiest girls dance and sing for the dictator and his court. They are all guilty of 100 per cent entertainment.

THE "GENTLE CRAFT"

A reader inquires about the origin of calling the trade of shoemaking the "gentle craft."

This time we, too, must resort to legend and pass on the accepted history of this characterization. That is that it is derived from an old romance in which a prince of the name of Crispin is made to follow, in honor of his namesake, Saint Crispin, the trade of shoemaking. There is a story, too, that King Edward IV, in one of his habitual disguises, once drank with a party of shoemakers, and toasted them. There is reference to that incident in a play, "George-a-Greene," dated 1599, as follows:

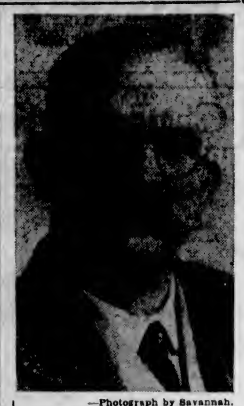

"Marry, because you have drank with the King,
And the King hath so graciously pledged you,
You shall no more be called shoemakers;
But you and yours, to the world's end,

ISLAND GIRL

by FRANK R. ADAMS

CHAPTER XI

"You can see what an intolerable situation we were in," went on Irene. "We have no communication with the mainland, except by boat; there was no way to ask for help. Besides, "Dummy" told me that at the first sign of such a thing he would have Pancake kill Drury.

"Finally I asked him how much money he would take to restore Drury and leave the island. "Dummy" named a sum away beyond the value of our entire property, thinking, of course, that we had no way of raising it. But he was partially wrong. I, personally, had several registered bonds locked in a safety deposit vault in New York City. No one knew about them but myself. Naturally I had not dared speak of their existence to my father. They had been given to me personally by a wise and provident aunt who abhorred my father's proclivities and wished to insure me against absolute want.

"No matter what the exact amount of my little fortune was—it's gone now, anyway. But I managed to haggle with "Dummy" Squales until he finally agreed to take what I had, together with our yacht, and go.

"He demurred slightly at the idea of letting me go to New York to get the money, but I pointed out that there was no other way, and he finally agreed, keeping Drury with him as a guarantee that I would come back and, further, that I would not notify the authorities or try to get help of any kind. He told me that at the first sign of treachery, or if I did not return in ten days they would kill the boy.

"So father and I came to New York. I got the bonds, signed the transfers and gave them to dad to get cashed at the offices of my aunt's broker, while I got gasoline aboard and got ready to put to sea again.

"When he did not return immediately, I was uneasy and cursed myself for a fool, but by nightfall I was almost certain what had happened. The feel of money in his hands had been too much for father. He had had the old impulse to double it. Luck would surely be with him this time, and he would make enough to keep us in comfort once more.

"Next day, yesterday, my crew demanded the wages which had been promised them the day before and, when I could not pay them they left, taking with them the yacht's dinghy, I suspect. At any rate, it is gone, and it was about the only new thing we had.

"Time was getting short. "Dummy's" ultimatum did not leave much leaway. I had to be starting back soon if I expected ever to see my brother alive again. But I did not want to leave the city without some news of my father, either. Besides, I had a faint hope that he might be in some gambling resort actually winning. Luck might really have turned.

"Finally, in the afternoon, I went to the police and told them of my father's disappearance. They were very kind, but seemed to think that being gone for only one day did not constitute cause for much activity on their part. A friendly sergeant suggested that I might get results by broadcasting his description over the radio. I did, and it is to that I owe the honor of your company. You were each brought on board by individuals who thought you answered my description of my father.

"When my father really was brought in I should have put you gentlemen ashore, but in my haste to get started I overlooked the fact that you were still in the cabin.

"To go back now, even to put in at some other harbor, in order to land you, would make me too late to save my brother's life. I weighed all that carefully and decided to go ahead, feeling sure that you would endorse my action. I don't know whether you gentlemen have sons of Drury's age, but even if you haven't, you will doubtless appreciate to what lengths I feel warranted in going in order to save his life. Drury is not a cherub, and I don't think he will ever be sainted for his behavior during this life. But he's a regular boy, and the dearest thing in the world to me. Will you, now that you are in possession of the facts, waive your own personal comfort, convenience, profit, and even anxiety in order to help me?

"It seems to me that it is only a question as to which course will cause the most suffering. If you think that your absence from New York will be a greater disaster than the death of my brother, I will agree to abide by your decision and put about. My case is in your hands."

CHAPTER XII

The judge took the lead in replying. "With your permission, Miss Ferguson, we will go somewhere apart and discuss this matter."

The others followed him forward where they went into a brief executive session.

"If they don't agree to your plan," said Vern to his boss, "I can knock them over one at a time with this." He indicated the capstan-bar.

"You'll do nothing of the sort. Thanks just the same, but go put that drum-stick back where you found it. I'll stand by my proposition."

She spoke to him as if he were a small boy and she was a friendly but firm governess. This was a manner she had doubtless acquired from supervising the life of her brother. Vern liked it—it admitted him to a degree of intimacy he had scarcely hoped for. Always, or at least for a long time, she treated him as if she were a dozen years older.

In less than five minutes the three prominent citizens had returned.

"We'll go with you," they decided, via the judge again as spokesman, "but we don't see exactly how it will help you much to arrive at the island without the ransom money."

"That is quite a logical inference," the girl admitted, "but I already had a plan, an alternative proposition to make to 'Dummy' Squales, one which I am reasonably sure that he will accept as the price of my brother's safety and freedom."

Her confidence seemed to satisfy the new members of the expedition who began to worry about the more immediate necessity for coffee as an aid to renewing the grasp on life. Irene gave Vern the wheel while she went forward to provide refreshment.

She was gone half an hour or so and by the time she came back Vern had had plenty of time for reflection.

"What is this alternative you propose to offer to the outlaw who has taken possession of your property?" he demanded.

"What if I should make it my affair, too?"

She searched his face and finally smiled.

"Even if you did it wouldn't make any difference. But thanks for offering and as a reward you are from now on first mate of the yacht Wings."

"Aye, aye, captain."

She regarded the compass a moment, then looked over the side.

"Don't you think, mate, that it would be better if you luffed a little?"

"I do already, captain—a whole lot."

Warner Ferguson came on deck in the early afternoon. He had had a really good rest and had quite recovered what was apparently his usual genial good humor.

"A fine day and a fine breeze, Irene," he said to his daughter ingratiatingly. "We ought to reach Little Cane Key in plenty of time."

"And with plenty of money, too, I presume," she replied. "Perhaps you had better turn over the cash to me."

He coughed uneasily. "Oh, the money. Well, daughter, you see I was——"

"Never mind thinking up a long story, father. I know the truth. This gentleman here found you where you had been thrown out into the street from one of New York's most notorious gambling hells. Father, how could you?"

He made a deprecating gesture. "I didn't mean to risk it all. It didn't seem reasonable to think that I wouldn't have one little run of good luck before I died. I had a feeling that this was going to be the time. I even prayed, Irene, that I could make enough so that when I passed on, which is going to be soon now, I could leave you in affluence for the balance of your life."

That reference to "passing on" was a skillful touch. Warner Ferguson was no mean pleader especially when he had a client he was interested in, such as himself. Irene knew she was being tricked into sympathizing with, instead of condemning, him, but her nature was such that she could not hold resentment against one who had a demand upon her womanliness and love.

Then, the incident closed, he went forward and organized a poker game. George MacLean, the banker, and Judge Hale played, but the Reverend Henry Snyder settled himself comfortably with a book.

As none of the players had any money whatever they played with initialled I.O.U.'s. Vern, whose status on the yacht was not quite clear to anybody, was tentatively asked to join them, but he definitely refused. Somebody had to help Irene worry.

They divided up the duties of steering so that Vern took the long trick at night and could sleep during the day.

"I don't know how I can thank you," Irene said.

MANY CALLINGS ARE ON ROSTER

Even Convention Traffic Agent Included in Membership of Montreal Women's Club

MONTREAL, Jan. 1 (CP). — Business and Professional Women's Clubs the world over are attracting to their membership women actively engaged in almost every imaginable business and profession open to them, and the Montreal club is no exception. In it are represented fifty-four different fields of work, all the way from home cooking to funeral directing.

Secretaries, however, are in the majority, numbering seventy, with forty-eight teachers, forty-two stenographers and thirty-five nurses vying for second, third and fourth places. The only others who number more than twenty are clerks, and they are twenty-three strong. Seventeen social workers, thirteen bookkeepers, twelve librarians and ten accountants swell the membership to 270, leaving ninety-five members for the other forty-three occupations.

WIDE VARIETY

There are bond saleswomen, cashiers, florists, milliners, journalists, medical doctors, osteopaths, hospital superintendents, hospital supervisors, dietitians, trained attendants, public stenographers, secretary-treasurers, insurance agents, physical instructresses, physcho-therapists and masseures.

Three members are in the advertising business, two own and manage exclusive gown shops and two others manage large apartment buildings. One depends on her skill to turn out tasty home cooking to bring her a revenue.

In grandmother's day who ever heard of a woman earning her living as a convention traffic agent, publisher, nutritionist, anaestetist, X-ray, radium or pathological technician, or even a personnel director or travel adviser, yet one of each of these is to be found in the Montreal club. Another glance down the list shows there is a chemist, a companion, a designer, a dressmaker, interior decorator, merchant, pianist, traveling secretary, telephone supervisor and a statistician.

And this makes up the Montreal Business and Professional Women's Club, incorporated just seven years ago to promote a closer relationship between women of all creeds and races, and to develop a knowledge of civic and national conditions as they affect women.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

FAITH HEALING—ITS USES AND ABUSES

If every patient who consults a physician is really a mental patient aside from any other ailment he may have, you can readily see that a physician's first duty is to cure or allay the mental ailment before or besides taking care of the real trouble.

It is estimated that more than one half of all the patients consulting physicians or attending hospitals have no real organic trouble. A recent writer therefore suggests that all these patients should be told at once that they have no ailment and should go home and "forget about it."

The very fact that these patients think or believe that they have some organic trouble must be taken into account and a careful examination made. If after the careful and thorough examination is made, no organic trouble is found, then, and not till then, should they be told that there is really nothing wrong, despite apparent symptoms.

I believe that the various healing cults have helped a great many people who were worrying about themselves and by this faith healing they have been restored to good health.

And even in cases where there is real organic trouble, if a spirit of hopefulness can be implanted in the mind, then the whole body—heart, lungs, stomach—even the ailing part itself, may well be helped by these measures. Professor Cannon, of Harvard, has demonstrated how the mind can help or interfere with the workings of practically every organ in the body.

However, there is one point that must not be forgotten. If the individual has heart disease, feeling buoyant and wanting to do as much work as ever may be just enough to bring on collapse. Rest will save life.

Similarly with diabetes. With part of the pancreas gone and the juices unable to properly handle the starches, death is bound to occur in a few years unless insulin is taken. Insulin will save life.

Also with pernicious anaemia, when the red blood cells and the haemoglobin within them is lessened, death will occur in three or four years if liver, liver extract, or extract of hog's stomach is not used. These save life. With hardening of the arteries, chronic inflammation of the liver and other organic ailments, only proper medical treatment can prolong life.

Remember, we can all be helped by faith healing: it not only helps mental ailments but also organic ailments, but it is unwise not to use the methods we know can save life, such as rest in heart disease, insulin in diabetes, and liver in pernicious anaemia.

VICTORIA RUGGERS HAND CALIFORNIA 17-6 DEFEAT

Record Crowd Sees Toronto Leafs Win Over Chicago Team

Nearly 16,000 Attend Fixture in Chicago and Watch Canadian Hockey Squad Come Through to 2-1 Decision — Horner Back in Line-Up — Americans Defeat Ottawa

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 1 (AP).—Scoring two goals in the second period and playing a brilliant defensive game throughout, Toronto Maple Leafs defeated Chicago Black Hawks, 2-1, tonight, in the Chicago Stadium.

The battle between the two division leaders attracted the biggest crowd of the Chicago season—15,500, who saw the Hawks bow on home ice for the first time of the campaign.

Reginald (Red) Horner returned to the Toronto line-up for the first time since his long suspension and played a fine game, along with taking two trips to the penalty box.

Summary

First Period—No score.

Second Period—Chicago, Gottselig, 2:00; Toronto, Boll (Primeau-Conacher), 4:00; Toronto, Blair (Doraty-Cotton), 9:50. Penalties: Horner, Blair, 2; March.

Third Period—No score. Penalty: Horner.

AMERICANS WIN

NEW YORK, Jan. 1 (CP).—New York Americans started the new year tonight with a convincing threat to climb out of the cellar of the National Hockey League's Canadian division, defeating the Ottawa Senators, 4-2. The victory lifted them up within a point of the fourth place Montreal Maroons, who were idle.

Trailing early in the second period by two goals the Amerks registered through Ronnie Martin in the first, and Eddie Burke in the second, the Senators rallied to cut down the lead when Frankie Finnigan scored on Jerry Shannon's pass.

Disaster overtook the visitors in the final frame when they pressed too hard for the equalizer.

Summary

First Period—Americans, Martin (McVeigh-Dutton), 3:13. Penalties: Voss, Jackson, Murray, Shields, Martin, Leduc.

Second Period—Americans, Burke (Klein), 6:30; Ottawa, Finnigan (Shannon), 8:59. Penalties: Martin (minor and additional ten-minute misconduct), D. Roche, Doran.

Third Period—Americans, Picketts, 11:13; Americans, Gross (Murray), 12:29; Ottawa, Touhey (Cox, Wasnie), 13:26. Penalties: Shannon, Brydge, Doran, Wasnie.

Stops—Beveridge, 34; Worters, 18.

ROYALS NOSE OUT SAVIOURS

New Westminster Footballers Take First Place in Inter-City League by Win

VANCOUVER, Jan. 1 (CP).—Westminster Royals went into undisputed possession of first place in the Inter-City Soccer League today when they turned back St. Saviours, 3 to 2.

Two thousand fans, largest soccer turnout for months, watched the Royals display form reminiscent of the days when they held the Dominion title.

St. Saviours scored two minutes after the game opened when Arnott took Moffat's corner kick and drove the ball into the corner of the Royals' net. Watchorn scored the equalizer twenty minutes later, and just before halftime took Coulter's centre to put Royals ahead.

Champion Horse of 1933

EQUIPOISE—Not only the champion horse of 1933, but the best thoroughbred to be developed since Man o' War, in the opinion of veteran race track goers. The horse is owned by Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney. Ekkie, as he was popularly known, ended his four-year racing career on September 30, 1933, at the age of five, after having won $322,970, to rank fourth among the leading money winners of the world. Only Sun Beau, with $376,744; Phar Lap, with $332,250, and Gallant Fox, with $328,165, lead Equipoise. The thoroughbred gave away ten to twenty pounds in each contest, only to emerge the victor in the canter. His racing days done, Equipoise is now grazing in stud in the blue grass of Kentucky.

Columbia in Great Win Over Stanford In Rose Bowl Game

By BRIAN BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

ROSE BOWL, PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 1 (AP).—A quick-thinking, ball-following band of Columbia Lions today concocted the most amazing football magic in the nineteen years of Rose Bowl competition to defeat Stanford's Indians, 7-0.

A crowd of approximately 40,000 looked on in astonishment. On a flood-soaked field, the New Yorkers put together two great plays in the second period to score the only touchdown of the contest and then stopped every drive the big Western eleven could muster.

A sensational forward pass from Cliff Montgomery to Tony Matal gave the Easterners the ball on Stanford's seventeen-yard line with no opponent near him, on a smart hidden ball play.

STANFORD THREATENS

Stanford threatened at frequent intervals, but could not sustain its drive across the goal line.

The Indians came out apparently fired to the 'nth degree at the start of the second half and sent Bobby Grayson scurrying sixty yards in five plays, dashes of twenty-five to nineteen yards swelling the total, but nothing came of the impressive offensive as a holding penalty brought it up short.

Columbia was conceded no chance to win the game and the best the experts could concede the visitors was that they might make it close.

WEST DEFEATS EAST GRIDDERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 1 (AP).—Collegiate football stars of the West defeated those of the East, 12-0, here today in the annual Shrine East-West football game.

Thirty thousand fans sat through drizzly weather to see the Western stars crash over for two touchdowns in the opening period and then stave off three Eastern bids for points in the second half.

George Sauer, University of Nebraska backfield star, was the outstanding player on the field, scoring both touchdowns and turning in a brilliant defensive game.

Ed Danowski, Fordham, playing fullback for the East, also turned in a spectacular performance.

The victory made six wins for the West to three for the East.

Frankie Parker Wins Net Crown In Straight Sets

NEW YORK, Jan. 1 (AP).—Frank A. Parker, of Milwaukee, seventeen-year-old Lawrenceville school tennis star, Canadian National champion in 1932, and who is now national clay court champion of the United States, won the United States junior indoor tennis crown today when he defeated Gilbert A. Hunt, Jr., of Washington, D.C., in straight sets in the final, 6-4, 6-3, 7-5.

Vivian McGrath Defeats Perry In Net Tussle

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 1 (CP).—Australia had a lead of six matches to two over England as the second day's play of the third tennis "test" series concluded today. Fred Perry, recently beaten by young Vivian McGrath, suffered another defeat today at the hands of the brilliant Australian youngster, who won in straight sets, 7-5, 6-4, his famous double backhand proving the dominant feature of a brilliant tussle.

F. BATTAGLIA GETS VERDICT AT MILWAUKEE

Winnipeg Fighter Gets Decision Over Kid Slaughter in Ten-Round Mix

Referee Walter Houlehan stopped the fight early in the second round when the Winnipeg boxer, after one round of furious milling, collapsed under the second wild punch delivered by Slaughter.

Frankie Simms, Cleveland, substituting for Lew Scozza, the Buffalo light-heavyweight, went down for two nine counts in the first round and hit the canvas four times in the second round of the semi-wind-up before the fight was stopped and Charley Belanger, the Canadian light-heavyweight champion, was awarded the decision on a technical knockout. Simms weighed 213 3-4, Belanger 183 3-4.

Performed Great Track Feat

JACK LOVELOCK

The greatest individual feat on track and field in 1933 took place on July 15, in Palmer Stadium, during the Oxford-Cambridge, Princeton-Cornell track meet. It was the smashing to bits of the former world's record for the mile run by Jack Lovelock, the Australian, who attends Oxford University. He established a record that will probably stand for years, unless he himself breaks it again next year. He was clocked in four minutes seven and six-tenth seconds, phenomenal time that had never been approached previously. So great was Lovelock's victory that the man who ran second to him, Bill Bonthron, of Princeton, also broke the former mark, which was four minutes nine and one-fifth seconds, set by Jules Ladoumegue, of France. In the above picture, Lovelock is shown breasting the tape as he finished the world's classic mile run.

SMOKE-EATERS WIN

NELSON, Jan. 1 (CP).—Trail Smoke-Eaters lengthened their lead over the second-place Kimberley Dynamiters, when they defeated the lowly Nelson Red Wings, 3-2, in a West Kootenay Hockey League game here, tonight.

Host: "Well, little lady, did you have a good night?" Small Visitor: "I don't know. I was asleep all the time."

LOCALS TURN BACK SOUTHERNERS AFTER BRILLIANT DISPLAY

Even Up Score Early in Second and Then Smash Through Opponents' Line for Several Tries for One-Sided Victory Before Large Holiday Crowd—Visitors Lead at Interval

Breaking a 3-3 deadlock shortly after the second half opened, Coach H. A. "Tommy" Tomalin's Victoria "rep" Rugby fifteen scored a great 17 to 6 victory over the combined forces of Stanford University and the University of California, yesterday afternoon, at the Royal Athletic Park, in the final match of the visitors' tour of British Columbia shores. A large New Year's Day crowd attended, and saw a strong local side display a fine brand of Rugby, especially in the second half, when they crossed the southerners' line for fourteen points. Mayor David Leeming performed the opening ceremonies by kicking the ball off, and Referee Ley handled the whistle in an impartial manner.

The fixture marked the final game of the tour, and sent the Californians home with three defeats and one victory. Stanford won the first game of their tour by defeating University of British Columbia after a thrilling second half rally, but fell before North Shore All-Blacks in their second appearance, 22-0. Vancouver's representative side took the southerners in their tussle, and yesterday Victoria handed them their third setback.

LOCALS OPEN UP

During the first half, play was kind of ragged, but Victoria opened up in the final canto, and displayed some fine work in all departments. The local three-quarter line functioned in grand style, while the forwards worked hard at all times. California's backfield was steady, and turned in a strong defensive game at all stages. Their forwards tried hard, but lacked the finesse of the locals. Adding two and two together, Victoria certainly fielded a much stronger team than against Vancouver, in the McKechnie Cup fixture on Boxing Day, and if the squad can be kept together they will be at even odds to retain the coveted piece of silverware.

Pressing from the opening kick-off, Victoria forced the visitors into their own twenty-five area during the first five minutes. Several scrum downs resulted, and after ten minutes, California drew first blood when Teddy Colgate made a fumble of a kick and Swable jumped at the opportunity, scooped the leather up and raced across for the initial try. Lewis missed the kick for extra points, after a fine attempt. Victoria came back stronger than ever after this score, and Rogers narrowly missed with a penalty. Turgoose gathered up the ball, but was pulled down by Cattolick three yards from the line.

VICTORIA PRESSES

The ball was swung across the field following a scrum down, but again California proved strong on the defensive, and held the locals at bay. Victoria continued pressing, and kept worrying the visitors' defence with a succession of attacks. The pressure was relieved when the invaders were given a twenty-five-yard kick, and the ball sailed to midfield, where play stayed. Victoria carried the play into California's twenty-five area again, and Tye missed a pass from McDonald with a sure score in sight, while King had a good opportunity but was whistled offside. Half-time caught the teams with the visitors still out in front by a 3 to 0 score.

California forced the play at the start of the second half, but brilliant kicks by King and McDonald carried the ball back to the visitors' territory. Pete Turgoose got away on a long run, but was pulled down on the thirty-five-yard mark. During the play Cattolick was slightly hurt, and the game was delayed for a few minutes. He quickly revived, and from then on Victoria put on the power, pressing with all they had, but still failed to break through for a score. Finally the locals were rewarded for their efforts when they were given a penalty kick on the twenty-five-yard line. Chuck McDonald, local skipper, made no mistake, and the ball sailed between the uprights to tie up the count.

The visitors showed determination after the deadlock, but Robson took the ball during a strong offensive and sent a beautiful kick into touch about on California's forty-yard line. From the line-out, Victoria broke the tie on a well-engineered three-quarter run. The ball went from Turgoose to Tye to Addison. The fleet-footed Addison ran wide, then swerved and went across for the second try for Victoria. McDonald's kick went wide. The cheering had hardly died down when the locals scored again, Addison again being the lad when he raced past Cattolick like a deer to score near the corner. Chris Usher took the kick and missed, the ball being low as it neared the posts.

CONTINUE PRESSURE

Victoria continued pressing hard, and hemmed California in their own twenty-five for several minutes. Rogers got away on a long run through centre, but was carried to earth by two tacklers. From the scrum which followed, Baer cleared by kicking to touch, and from there Irelan carried the play to midfield with a good run. Rogers broke again, but was tackled about fifteen yards from the line.

After Hager had cleared with a kick to midfield, Bobby Tye gained possession, but was pushed into touch five yards from the line. Victoria was given a penalty kick at this stage, and Vic Rogers dropped the ball over to make it 12-3.

As play resumed, Swable was hurt and went off with a slight concussion, nothing serious, leaving California with fourteen players. Chuck McDonald took a pass from Turgoose, and got away for a long run which ended when he was tackled by Baer. From a scrum down, Buzz Brown took the ball and managed to get over, increasing Victoria's lead. The kick by Rogers went through for the extra points. Just before the finish, Kiesel raced over between the posts for the final score, and the whistle sounded shortly after the kick for conversion was missed.

CALGARY DOWNS SEATTLE SQUAD

Prairie Icemen Defeat Sound City Team—Vancouver Blanks Portland Bucks

CALGARY, Jan. 1 (CP).—Making the most of a one-man advantage in the second period, Calgary Tigers broke away to score three goals in twenty-one seconds and give them enough leeway to defeat Seattle Sea Hawks, 4-3, here, today. Except for Calgary's big scoring splurge, the Seattle team had the advantage throughout most of the game.

Dyck opened the scoring early in the first period when he took Tabor's pass at the blue line. He skated in and drew McCusker out to slip the puck neatly into the net. Harper got Seattle's second on a lone rush early in the second. Anderson scored for Calgary when the puck went into the net off Venner's skate. Calgary scored three more while Powley was serving a penalty, Heard, Anderson and Sutherland getting the goals.

LIONS BEAT BUCS

VANCOUVER, Jan. 1 (CP).—Vancouver Lions handed Portland Buckaroos their third straight defeat in a Northwestern professional hockey league game, here, today, 3-0. The result failed to effect the standings. The Lions still trailing the second place Buckaroos by a single point.

FREDDIE MILLER RETAINS CROWN

National Boxing Association Champion Scores Decisive Win Against Sharkey

Victoria Eleven In Cricket Lead Over S. Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 1 (CP).—Victoria held a lead on the first innings over South Australia in their inter-state cricket match when stumps were pulled today.

The scores were: South Australia, 313 and 198; Victoria, 366. Bromley, with 161, and Ponsford, 94, were Victoria's leading scorers, while Lonergan scored an even century for South Australia.

Kelowna Hands Blue Ribbons Quintette Setback

KELOWNA, Jan. 1 (CP).—Victoria Blue Ribbons, Canadian men's senior basketball champions, dropped a 47-35 decision to the Kelowna quintette in an exhibition game, here, this afternoon.

Ribbons led, 25-16, at halftime, but the Kelowna squad drew upon even terms early in the second half and finally forged ahead.

Kelowna—C. Pettman, 10; MacKay, 8; Griffith, 4; Ryan, 4; M. Meickle, 5; "Pie" Campbell, 8; Poole, A. Meickle, 8.

EXPLANATION FOR SUNDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

The Snow Paradox—A rainfall of one inch yields 100 tons of water to the acre. It takes a snowfall of twelve inches to the acre to equal the weight of one inch of rain. This ratio has been ascertained with the aid of gauges used to collect snow over a given area and to measure the amount of water formed by its melting. The reason is that snow is water congealed in the atmosphere. All water upon freezing undergoes a remarkable expansion. Snow also includes a considerable quantity of air and airtubes in its construction.

New Year's Morning Is Not New Year—The length of the true solar year is 365 days, 5 hours, 48 minutes and 46 seconds. To take care of the surplus over 365 days, there is a leap year every four years, excepting centenary years, not divisible by 400.

The year 4000 will be exceptional in that February 29 will be suppressed to take care of 26 seconds still remaining. The Reform of the Calendar forgot to account for the astronomical surplus of 1 B.C. to this day.

added to midnight December 31, 1933, will give you January 1, 1934, 38 minutes and 42 seconds past 5 p.m. as the exact beginning of 1934.

Scottish Footballers Battle to a Draw in Hard-Fought Match

Annual New Year's Day Game at Glasgow Ends in Tie—Motherwell Defeats Hamilton, 2-1—Derby County Climbs in English League by Trimming Everton—Hotspurs Beaten

GLASGOW, Jan. 1 (CP).—Glasgow Rangers and Celtic battled to a 2-2 tie in the annual classic between the two Glasgow teams, today, and, as Motherwell were defeating Hamilton, 2-1, the Rangers, league champions, saw Motherwell's lead increase by a point. Motherwell, who have been beaten only once this season, now lead the First Division of the Scottish Football League by six points.

Wet and miserable weather marked all the fixtures as the Scottish League continued its New Year holiday schedule. Despite the conditions, however, 40,000 turned out for the Glasgow battle. McGrory and McGonagle, the latter on a free kick, scored for Celtic, and Venters and McPhail got the champions' goals.

Dowall and McFadyen scored for Motherwell at Fir Park, and Park scored for Hamilton before McFadyen, Motherwell's international, was forced out with a cut over his eye.

In the Second Division, Arbroath got up into a tie with Dunfermline for leadership by beating Forfar, 3-0, while Dunfermline were losing, 2-1, at Alloa.

GAMES IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Jan. 1 (CP).—Derby County climbed within two points of the league-leading Arsenal, who were resting, as a result of today's curtailed football engagements in the First Division of the English Football League. Derby had little trouble in disposing of Everton, 3-0.

Huddersfield Town, formerly tied with Derby for second place, were idle, and Tottenham Hotspurs, fourth place holders, failed to take advantage, suffering a 1-0 defeat at Blackburn.

Manchester City likewise fell by the wayside, getting a trouncing right on their own grounds at the hands of West Bromwich by no less than seven goals to two. Newcastle United, who are in seventeenth place, ran up a 9-2 score against Liverpool.

Only two matches were played in the Second Division and the standings were unchanged, for Bolton Wanderers, holders of third place, took a 1-0 defeat from Bradford, while Bury, at home, were beating Notts County, 3-0.

BOWLING GREEN IS CONSTRUCTED

One of Best Greens in Province Nearly Ready for Play at Up-Island Centre

NANAIMO, Jan. 1. — With the exception of seeding, work is practically completed on the new bowling green which has been built by the Western Fuel Corporation of Canada, Ltd. It is conceded by experts to be probably the best green in British Columbia, and from scenic possibilities, it certainly has no superior in Canada. Located on the top point of what was once known as Cameron Island, the new playground commands a view of the entire harbor, with a three-mile straightaway vision of Departure Bay, and the biological station there. Through the "Gap" between Newcastle and Protection Islands, on a fair day, an excellent view is obtained of Sechelt, over forty miles away on the Mainland.

The grounds, measuring a little better than the regulation 120 by 120 feet, have mostly a solid rock foundation, but one corner has been filled in with sand, which is expected to stand up well. The end of the green facing the harbor has been built up from the water's edge, fifty feet below, with rockwork, and this has been reinforced by steel rails, which extend some fifty feet into the bank, and are designed to keep the "face" from slipping, through erosion or other causes.

Space has been retained for a new clubhouse adjacent to the green, and the first game is expected to be played next October, after the new grass has taken a firm growth. The club has seventy-two men members, and forty-three ladies, and Alderman Joseph Dixon is the president. The latter states that he has played on greens all over British Columbia, but never has he seen one which will equal the local club's new location. The cost will be in the neighborhood of $6,000.

V.A.C. CAPTURES FOOTBALL FIXTURE

VANCOUVER, Jan. 1 (CP).—Vancouver Athletic Club and Ballards, of Seattle, played a mixed Canadian-American football game here, today, and although each side won the half played under its particular code, V.A.C. came out on top.

A field goal and a touchdown in the Canadian half of the game gave V.A.C. an 8-0 lead at half time. The touchdown was not converted.

Americans Trim Rangers' Hockey Squad by 3 to 1

NEW YORK, Jan. 1 (CP).—New York Americans trounced their city rivals, Rangers, 3-1, Sunday night, and kept Rangers in the National Hockey League, American division, cellar. Rabbit McVeigh, Bill Brydges and Dade Klein were the scorers for the winners, while Murray Murdock netted the lone counter for the losers.

Game Still in Infancy—Canadians Play Oversea Fixtures Amid Fairyland—Rinks Have Bars and Fine Club Quarters

OTTAWA, Dec. 30 (CP).—Hockey is gaining popularity in England, and is played in luxurious surroundings, writes T. G. Lowrey, news editor of The Ottawa Journal, who is in Europe as coach of the touring Ottawa Shamrocks.

In his first letter to his paper, Lowrey says in part:

"While ice hockey may be said to be in its infancy in England, it is played in luxurious surroundings and is in the hands of men who, realizing its fascination, are certain to put it over in a big way. The comparative elegance of the game's present settings is explained by the fact that it is played in rinks built primarily for skating. Accommodation for spectators is limited, and every important game already is a sell-out.

"Ottawa Shamrocks opened their tour at the home of the Park Lane Ice Club, an adjunct of the exclusive Grosvenor House Hotel. The entrance is like that to a modern, high-class theatre, glass doors, marble walls and stairways, heavily-carpeted floors, smartly-uniformed attendants. The youngsters who loiter around the doors of rinks at home ready to carry in your 'kit,' as they call hockey paraphernalia here, don't dare come near. The interior is a fairy land, walls gaily painted with Winter sports scenes. The ceiling over the playing surface is glass, through which bright lights shine. Instead of the expected tiers of seats, there are tables with chairs around them, where refreshments are served.

"On hockey nights about two rows of these chairs are arranged along the railing. The floors are covered with bright red matting. There is a similar arrangement on a gallery.

MANY REFUSED ADMISSION

"There are about 500 seats, and the police allow the sale of 1,000 more standing room. As many more are refused admission each game. A bar is conveniently located and the ten-minute rest periods must be profitable. The dressing rooms are comfortable, contain steel lockers, and the showers are better than at most exclusive golf clubs, and the supply of towels just as generous.

"There was little real 'rooting' as we know it in Canada. Shots at the Shamrock net were applauded, as were stops by England's goal-tender.

"England's side was selected from three city teams which play in a league here. All are Canadians, mostly from Winnipeg. A. G. Duncanson was with the Winnipeg team that beat the United States in the last Olympic games. F. Leblanc, last year with the champion Moncton Hawks, was their best man. He's a big favorite. L. Holmes, a Winnipeg boy, played in the nets, and was badly fooled by the first of seven shots that beat him. J. A. Borland, G. Dailley, G. Davey, W. Kerr, G. Morrison and A. Forsythe were the others.

"The opposition is stronger than encountered by teams in the past, and when Canadian players now residing n England become moulded into hockey machines, only the best from the other side will be able to take them.

"The playing surface at Park Lane Ice Club is much smaller than the Ottawa Auditorium, as is that at Hammersmith, where England nearly beat us. But the rinks at Streatham and Oxford are larger, about 210 feet long by 100 feet wide, great for fast skaters.

CANADIANS AT OXFORD

"Oxford University lined up a team composed of eight Canadians and one American—all Rhodes scholars but one. Jimmy Coyne, of Winnipeg, is captain. E. R. Hopkins, the goaler, was struck in the eye with a puck driven by Dan Cowley early in the game, and this partly explains their overwhelming defeat. He was excellent even with one eye and could handle most shots off the ice. Shamrocks tried to keep the puck down, and that was fatal, for he couldn't see them at his feet. G. H. Johnson, at centre, who played some hockey at McGill, was Oxford's best. Other players were E. A. McCourt and J. E. Nadeau, defence; G. C. Andrews, J. D. Babbitt and A. H. Humble. R. Black, a second string forward, is from the United States.

"While some of the Oxford team played senior hockey before coming to England, they were clean-cut, manly young fellows who fought gamely to the end for the honor of 'Varsity. They are in great shape, and a crowd of between 4,000 and 5,000, evenly divided between 'town and gown,' cheers them on, wasting no sympathy on the enemy.

"Nearly all rinks here are equipped with club rooms, providing billiards and other forms of entertainment. They have liquor privileges. A magnificent skating palace at Streatham has a fine dance floor in its restaurant.

"The price of admission varies. At Oxford it was from 35 cents, for standing, to $1.85; Park Lane, 60 cents to $2.25; Streatham, 75 cents to $2.50. Hammersmith jams in about 1,000 people at 85 cents to $1.85. Skating after the game is included usually.

"Canadians, of course, have a hand in the game. The president of the Grosvenor House Canadian Club is Fred Summerhaye, who, old hockey fans may remember, went to Ottawa after the Stanley Cup back in 1906 with the Toronto Marlboros. J. C. P. Magwood, a former Canadian, referees many of the games, as does B. N. Sexton."

FRED HEMPLER WINS CLASSIC

San Jose Bike Rider Captures Annual 100-Mile Race From Strong Field in the South

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 1 (AP).—In a thrilling blanket finish, Fred Hempler, of the Berryessa Cycling Club, San Jose, today won the annual 100-mile New Year's Day bike race from a field of fifteen contestants.

Hempler's time for the grind was 5 hours 51 minutes 20 seconds. Jack McCoy, of the New Century Wheelmen, San Francisco, crossed the finish line one second behind Hempler, and just one second behind McCoy came Bob Church, of the New Century Wheelmen.

Fourth place was taken by Joe Beltram, of the Garden City Wheelmen, of San Jose. His time was 6 hours 2 minutes 29 seconds.

NANAIMO XI SCORES WIN

Up-Islanders Blank Kerrisdale in Inter-City Football Fixture by 6-0 Score

NANAIMO, Jan. 1.—Five rapid counters in the second half, added to that secured by George Kulai in the opening period, gave Nanaimo City a 6-0 victory over Kerrisdale in the Inter-City League match here yesterday afternoon. Fifteen hundred fans saw the game. Kerrisdale were the better team in the first half, but failed to bulge the rigging, although Smith and McNichol were constantly dangerous to Boyd and Edmunds, the home defence. George Kulai celebrated his return to Nanaimo soccer ranks by scoring midway through the half to give his team a 1-0 lead, which they held at the interval.

When the visiting defence weakened in the last twenty minutes of the game, Nanaimo forwards ran through them for five goals. The first two were secured by Waugh, Grey scored the third, and one minute later Krall put the City five goals in front. The same player ended the scoring with only seconds to play, and the whistle blew with the final score reading: Nanaimo 6, Kerrisdale 0.

The visitors' opening display was one of the finest witnessed here this season, and but for the stalwart Nanaimo defence, the score could have been much closer. George West, right back for Kerrisdale, played a staunch game, but was accorded poor support by his partner, White. Hunter, McNichol and Smith were the other Kerrisdale men to display marked ability.

O'Duffy Reported to Be Gaining Strength Rapidly in Ireland

By P. J. QUINN
Central Press Canadian Correspondent.

DUBLIN, Dec. 29.—Sunday, the day of rest, is now the day of test for President Eamonn de Valera.

When, last February, De Valera, hot from his victory at the polls, removed General O'Duffy from the command of the Free State police force without assigning any cause, no one expected the restless and forceful forty-year-old general would be content to spend the rest of his life enjoying the pension of £600 a year (half pay) provided for him by the Government.

And their forebodings were correct. After enjoying a Mediterranean holiday, he returned in July to begin the organization of the Blue Shirts—a body founded on Fascist lines. The organization absorbed immediately the Army Comrades' Association, founded by Dr. Thomas O'Higgins, brother of the murdered leader, Kevin O'Higgins, and grew so rapidly that both the Northern Government in Belfast and the Free State Government in Dublin attempted to suppress it as a dangerous force. There was surprise when President de Valera followed Lord Craigavon in this course, particularly when De Valera revived the Cosgrave Public Safety Act for this purpose.

OFFICIALLY BANNED

The Blue Shirts are officially banned in North and South, but true to Irish tradition no organization really begins to thrive until a Government declares it to be illegal. Dublin tailors are kept busy turning out hundreds of Blue Shirts' uniforms. The force has now, it is estimated, about 20,000 members. It is the strongest single force in the country.

The power and influence of General O'Duffy was further recognized when William T. Cosgrave, the ex-President, and F. MacDermot, the leader of the National Centre Party, agreed to a fusion with the Blue Shirts and accepted General O'Duffy as leader of a unified party known as the United Ireland Party.

O'Duffy is receiving popular welcomes in every county such as Mr. Cosgrave could never command. The young people are rallying to his standard, and Mr. de Valera belatedly recognizes in him the greatest force who has ever opposed him, and the first real menace to his power and influence since the death of Michael Collins.

The Irish temperament likes emotionalism, pungent rhetoric, colorful eloquence with a touch of defiance of one thing or another in it. It was by introducing these ingredients that Mr. de Valera gained most of his popularity. Now there are two emotional leaders, O'Duffy, a real Celt, Mr. de Valera with the Latin mixture.

None of Mr. de Valera's opponents under Cosgrave's regime were of an emotional type. They were cold, logical, matter of fact. They believed in strong government, in telling the people they should work and that the Government was not there for finding work and providing doles. Consequently Mr. de Valera's emotionalism attracted. It gave him power. General O'Duffy has taken a leaf out of Mr. de Valera's book. He is painting word pictures of the greatness of the future Ireland which threaten to make Mr. de Valera's efforts pale.

REVELS IN LIMELIGHT

General O'Duffy is reveling in the limelight, and is taking very great risks in moving about the country. He was lucky to escape with his life at Kerry, recently, and he never knows the hour when he may be confronted with a similar outbreak of violence. But it is all helping to build up the O'Duffy glamor. The young women are particularly being attracted to his cause, and General O'Duffy is a bachelor.

Sunday, instead of being a day of peace, is now the day of tension and alarm all over the country, for General O'Duffy speaks at some centre every Sunday at an open-air meeting. The I.R.A. and Fianna Fail supporters gather to oppose him. It is necessary to mobilise about 250 police and additional squads of militia to keep the rivals apart, with the result seeds of civil war are being sown. Mr. de Valera says he will prevent it, and that if necessary he will "knock the heads off the Blue Shirts and the I.R.A."

General O'Duffy has lived excitingly. As a young student, he took part in the 1916 rebellion in Dublin, and attracted the notice of Michael Collins. Qualifying as a civil engineer, he returned to his native County Monaghan, which is one of the Ulster counties, to take up an appointment as a roads engineer. He was not long at work when the call came from Collins, in 1918, to form "flying columns of volunteers" to attack the British forces in those parts.

LIKE GUERILLA CHIEF

General O'Duffy undertook the task at once and soon began to levy war on British in Tyrone and Monaghan. He was associated with many exciting exploits, captured several police barracks, usually equipping his men with arms and ammunition at the expense of the enemy. For over three years he lived in the fastnesses of the Sperin mountains, sallying forth like the true guerilla chief, mostly at night.

While "on the run" he was elected for Monaghan as a member of the British House of Commons, but, like the other Sinn Fein members at the time, did not take his seat. Neither would he sit in the Parliament of Southern Ireland, which Britain tried to establish in 1920, at the same time she established the Parliament in Belfast. Instead, he continued to wage guerilla warfare up to the truce in 1921.

There are many stirring stories of how O'Duffy managed to elude the British and Northern Ireland forces, for he was the most wanted guerilla chief in the North.

Coming to Dublin to sit in the Provisional Parliament which followed the signing of the treaty, he supported the treaty, and when civil war broke out in the Free State in May, 1922, he was sent by Collins to suppress it in the South. He established headquarters at Limerick, and inside a month had broken up the I.R.A. concentrations. He gained a reputation as a clever and resourceful leader in the field. He retired from politics at the end of 1922.

ORGANIZED POLICE

Subsequently, he was for ten years commissioner of the force. During his headship of the police, O'Duffy played a prominent part in the revival of athletics in the country, and was elected president of the athletic council. He accompanied the Irish team to the Olympic Games at Los Angeles, last year, an visited New York a few years ago to attend the International Police Convention.

In 1924, when an army meeting occurred, he was given charge for a while of the army, and successfully dealt with the trouble by dismissing the mutineers.

General O'Duffy has a marked talent for leadership and organization, and a big battle between himself and Mr. de Valera at the polls will—violent action accepted—it due to take place.

MINING FIGURES SHOW BIG GAINS

Twenty Per Cent Increase in Production Value Shown in Canada

OTTAWA, Jan. 1 (CP).—A considerable increase in the mineral production of Canada was noted in 1933, according to estimates prepared by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The total gain in the three major branches amounted to nearly $20,000,000.

Metal production estimated at $124,382,000 for this year, compared with $103,495,453 for 1932. In the mineral fuels there was a slight drop from $49,047,342 last year to $47,315,000 in 1933, but this was partly offset by other classified products such as asbestos, gypsum, quartz and the like.

All of the base metals registered gains, those by nickel and copper being considerable, but there was a slight falling off in the production of gold and silver.

Year Closes With Marked Upturn in Nation's Business

Survey Shows Important Trade Barometers Indicating Favorable Conditions Ahead—Employment Figures Greatly Increased and Basic Industries Making Steady Recovery

TORONTO, Dec. 29 (CP).—On the upward curve since April last, interrupted only by a mild recoil in August, September and October, Canadian industry is moving on again. The year-end finds all important trade barometers indicating favorable conditions ahead. The atmosphere of gloom in which 1932 closed has been replaced by a feeling of confidence.

To the boot and shoe, lumbering, newsprint, furniture manufacturing and textile industries go the credit for providing the most convincing evidence that the depression's trough has been passed. These industries are currently showing output far beyond the figures for the corresponding period of last year. Exports of footwear exceeded the 1932 figures by 38 per cent. Footwear totaling 20,000,000 pairs have gone from Canadian factories this year, or 1,500,000 more pairs than last year. Newsprint production is now running 30,000 tons monthly ahead of 1932 production, and textile mills have operated in the last half year at higher pressure than in any equal period in the previous three years.

PLANTS ARE BUSIER

Automotive and steel plants are also busier. Pig iron output is at present three times as heavy as in December last, and over the whole year production is up nearly 40 per cent. Production of steel ingots and castings, is up 13 per cent. About 65,000 motor vehicles were turned out in Canadian plants this year, or 4,000 more than in 1932, and exports of cars were 20,000 compared with 13,000. In the retail field Christmas business has been variously estimated at 25 to 50 per cent greater than a year ago.

Other statistical measures of economic conditions confirm conclusions drawn from production returns. Freight taken through the Soo canals doubled last year's figures and traffic through the Welland and St. Lawrence Canals was up also. Canadian car loadings are now running about 2,000 weekly over those of a year ago. Electrical power production is up 15 per cent.

ALL INDICATE PROGRESS

Steadily rising employment, bank debits (cheques), railway earnings, foreign trade and wholesale prices, and a decreasing number of business failures all indicate progress towards more satisfactory economic conditions. Employment has increased eight months in succession, and the Federal Statistical Bureau's index now stands at 91.8, compared with 76.0 in April. The rise in the early Winter months has been against the seasonal trend.

Combined imports and exports are currently totaling more than $100,000,000 monthly, 15 per cent more than a year ago. Exports of farm produce to the United States in recent weeks have been three times as heavy as in 1932. Butter and egg exports are much higher this year than last.

BUILDING IS LAGGING

Production of wheat flour is lagging, and the building industry also has failed to pick up like other industries, due, it is said, to a shortage of money for building loans.

The gold mining industry has thrived all through the depression, and base metal mining is now gradually gathering momentum, as metal prices advance. The demand for nickel has expanded rapidly this year, world consumption in ten months totaling 77,609,280 pounds, compared with 49,500,000 in the corresponding period of last year.

WANTS WEATHER REPORTS SPREAD

City Council Will Endeavor to Rectify Omission of City's Temperatures

One of the first acts of the City Council at the initial meeting on New Year's Day was to authorize the taking of steps to see if greater publicity could not be obtained with respect to the daily reports of the weather conditions in Victoria. The complaint was offered by members of the board that in the radio weather reports and in many of the newspaper reports the temperature prevailing in Victoria was not given.

It was felt that the omission of these ought to be rectified, if possible, as the city suffered a good opportunity to advertise its living conditions in the reports.

It was decided, on motion of Alderman R. T. Williams, to make an effort to see that in future the conditions in this city should be heralded to the world

What Today Means

"CAPRICORN"

If January 2 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., from 3:30 to 5 p.m., and from 8 to 10:15 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m., from 12 p.m. to 2 p.m., and from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Women born on this date are instinctively methodical, and are inclined to be extremely economical, but possess a strong desire to get "something for nothing." You love almost any form of speculation, especially church raffles. You even gamble with love, being very capricious in your dealings with the opposite sex, indulging in numerous flirtations that may lead to complications. It may be well to remember discretion never did get anyone into trouble.

The child born on January 2 will need to be encouraged to display a certain amount of aggressiveness, and must be taught to be self-assertive, for its natural characteristic is one of shyness. It might be well for you to remember that children born on this date are not of a demonstrative type, but you can help develop this trait by providing the child with a pet, on which it can lavish and give expression to emotions of affection, which otherwise it may form a habit to suppress.

January 2 men are inclined to take themselves and the world at large too seriously. You should "get wise" to the fact that you are secretly afraid about the opinion other people may have regarding you and your personal habits, so you affect a certain amount of reserve, which you feel makes you appear dignified, but in reality it only causes you to seem inclined to be aloof. You are inclined to be very dictatorial both in your home and at your office, and this is largely due to your desire to impress people with a sense of your importance. It may be well for you to realize that the person you are dealing with may be supersensitive, and apt to secretly resent your attitude, so it might be a good idea for you to try and correct this trait.

Born on this date you have unusual ability to absorb knowledge, and the happy facuity of not forgetting what you have once learned. You have not a "lazy bone" in your body, and have a tremendous amount of ambition, which, with the energy you possess, will carry you far. Your love for home life will assure you of happiness in matrimonial bonds, and your willingness to give, as well as take, and to play square, will secure the contentment you desire. You may have your "ups and downs," but you possess a tremendous amount of determination, and you have the ability to smile when everything seems to be going wrong, and with that spirit you will win the battle of life, for, after all, it is grit that wins in any game.

RETURNS CONTROL OF STATE BANKS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 (AP).—President Roosevelt Saturday issued a proclamation returning to state banking authorities full control over state banks not members of the Federal Reserve system.

The proclamation amended the chief executive's proclamations of March 6 and March 9, and his executive order of March 10, under which the President assumed authority over all banks as a result of the March 4 banking crisis.

The anti-gold hoarding provisions were not affected by tonight's proclamation and the Federal Government retains its control over the yellow metal.

The Daily Colonist

RATES FOR CLASSIFIED OR WANT ADVERTISEMENTS

One and one-half cents a word each insertion; nine cents a word a week, with a minimum of ten words; cash with order. No advertisement accepted for less than twenty-five cents.

Death and Funeral Notices, $1.50 first insertion; $1.00 for each additional insertion. Marriages, Cards of Thanks and In Memoriam Notices, $1.50 per insertion.

Birth Notices, $1.00 per insertion.

Business or Professional Cards of two lines or under, $2.50 per month. Additional space at $1.25 per line per month.

Advertisers who desire may have replies addressed to a box at The Colonist and forwarded to their private address. A charge of ten cents is made for mailing replies. In this case add three words ("Box.....Colonist") to the count for the number of words.

Out-of-town readers of our advertisements ask advertisers to give address as well as phone numbers, as it is not always possible to communicate through the phone.

Any claim for rebate on account of errors or omissions must be made within thirty days from the date of the same, otherwise the claim will not be allowed.

The Colonist will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one issue.

The Colonist service is available every day from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., excepting Sunday. Just call E mpire 4114.

Classified Ads for The Sunday Colonist will be accepted up to 10 p.m. on Saturdays.

2 DEATHS

NICOLSON—The death occurred on Monday, January 1, at 1535 Despard Avenue, of James Edward Nicolson, beloved son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Nicolson, aged twenty months.
Funeral will be held from Curry's Funeral Home on Wednesday at 3 o'clock. It is desired that no flowers be sent.
(Regina papers please copy.)

HOWARD—Passed away at Kamloops, B.C., Hannah Howard, beloved wife of J. Desmond Howard, aged twenty-nine years. She is survived by her husband and parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Fracy, of Victoria.
The remains are resting at the Thomson Funeral Home, from where the funeral will take place this afternoon at 2.30. Interment will be made in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

METCALFE—On December 31, 1933, at St. Joseph's Hospital, Sarah Maria Metcalfe, widow of the late Joseph Metcalfe, aged seventy-one years; born in West Bromwich, England, and has been a resident of this province for fifty-two years, her late residence being Vancouver for the past twenty years. She is survived by three sons, Joseph G., William and George Metcalfe, all living in Vancouver; also one daughter, Mrs. C. A. Peck, of Victoria.
The remains are reposing at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Company's Chapel and will be forwarded to Vancouver for interment on this afternoon's boat (Tuesday, January 2, 1934).
(Nanaimo papers please copy.)

THOMSON—On Sunday, December 31, at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, Andrew Newton Thomson, aged thirty-nine years, of Feltham Road, Gordon Head. The late Mr. Thomson was born in Scotland and had resided here for three years. He is survived by his widow and small son, at home; his father in Scotland, one sister in Winnipeg, one sister in Brandon, a brother in Rathwell, Manitoba, and a sister in Scotland. He served in the Great War with the 226th Battalion of Winnipeg.
The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, from McCall Bros.' Funeral Home, Rev. H. J. Armitage will conduct the service, after which interment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

GARDNER—After a short illness, the death occurred on December 29, at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, of Harry Gardner, late past noble grand master of the I.O.O.F., No. 4, aged fifty-six years; a native of Northleigh, Oxon., England, and a resident of Victoria for the past twenty-three years, late residence, 3017 Meadow Place. He is survived by his widow and two daughters, Dorothy, at home, and Mrs. C. Kilbourne, of O'Brian Bay; also two brothers, Horace, in Michigan; Laban, in New York; one sister in England, and one grandson, Charles Hubert Kilbourne. Funeral will take place this afternoon, at 3.30, from the Sands Mortuary. Remains will be laid at rest at Colwood Burial Park.

NEWMAN—On December 29, at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, Edward George Newman, aged forty-three years; born in Twillingate, Newfoundland, and a resident of this city for the past twenty-two years; late residence, 522 Montreal Street. Deceased is survived by, besides his widow, Mrs. Edith Newman; one daughter and three sons, at home; also his parents in Twillingate, Newfoundland; one sister, Mrs. W. E. Baker, of Orlando, Florida, and one sister in Boston; also an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. C. Newman, of this city.
Deceased was a member of the Canadian Legion, Pro Patria Branch; also of Dominion Lodge, No. 4, I.O.O.F., under whose auspices the funeral will take place from the Sands Mortuary on Tuesday, January 3, at 3 o'clock, and the remains will be laid at rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

BRADSHAW—The death occurred on December 31, at 29 Logan Avenue, of Clarence Wilton Bradshaw, aged seventy-six years; a native of Bedeque, Prince Edward Island, and a resident of Victoria for the past twenty-six years. He was educated in Acadia University, called to the Manitoba Bar in 1899, and practised in Winnipeg from 1898 to 1907. He was called to the British Columbia Bar in 1908, and had practised in Victoria for the past twenty-five years, offices being at 812 View Street. He is survived by his widow and two daughters, Mrs. P. M. Barr, of Berkeley, Cal., and Mrs. Maurice Green, of Victoria.
Funeral service will take place on Wednesday afternoon, January 3, from the Thomson Funeral Home at 2.15, proceeding to the First Baptist Church, Quadra Street, where service will be held at 2.30, Rev. G. A. Reynolds officiating. Interment will be made in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Highlights of 1933 News

JANUARY

The month of January, 1933, marked few events of major interest.

The death of Calvin Coolidge, former president of the United States, was probably the outstanding news event of the month. It was during this month that the Canadian Senate Investigating Committee prepared their report on the proposed merger of two Canadian railway chains.

Jan. 6.—Calvin Coolidge, former president of the United States died.

Jan. 12.—Sir Herbert Holt advocates merger of Canadian railways.

Jan. 17.—Survey shows high cost of living drops. Result shows $70.26 buys as much as $100 did in 1925.

Jan. 27.—Canadian dollar discounted at 17 per cent in New York.

FEBRUARY

The month of February saw many important events take place in Canada and the United States. In Ottawa the Senate committee defeated the proposed railway merger, 24-1. In the United States, the banking situation was becoming critical and several Detroit banks were forced to close.

The month also marked the death of Hon. Frank Oliver, noted Canadian politician and newspaper publisher.

Feb. 3.—Canadian gold stocks move to peak levels.

Feb. 9. — Judge Sedgewick appointed chairman of new Dominion Tariff Board.

Feb. 20.—Five killed in air crash at Schumacher, Ontario.

Feb. 25.—Peter Veregin, Doukhobor leader, released from Halifax gaol.

Feb. 28.—Hon. Frank Oliver died in Ottawa.

MARCH

The month of March was one of the outstanding months of the year in number of important events of worldwide interest.

It marked the inauguration of Franklin Delano Roosevelt as President of the United States; it saw the entire U.S. banking system come crashing down as banks everywhere closed their doors.

In this month Anton Cermak, Mayor of Chicago, died from an assassin's bullet meant for President-elect Roosevelt. The terrible California earthquake also took place this month.

In Canada, March saw the death of Sir Henry Thornton. In England, it saw the arrest of British employees in Moscow and the abrogation of the Anglo-Soviet trade treaty.

March 4.—Franklin Delano Roosevelt inaugurated as President of the United States.

March 6.—Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago died nineteen days after assassin's bullet had struck him down at Miami, Florida, in an attempt to assassinate President-elect Roosevelt.

March 7.—Sale of Canadian National Railway's radio stations to the Canadian Radio Commission for $50,000 announced in House of Commons.

March 18.—Mrs. Timothy Eaton, widow of founder of T. Eaton Co., died at Oakville, Ontario. Age, 91.

APRIL

April showers brought a shower of events which have since changed the complex of the world's economic position. The United States went off the gold standard; Great Britain omitted war debt payment to United States. The N.R.A. or National Recovery Act passed the United States Senate.

In Canada the outstanding events seemed to have been in the sports world. On April 4, Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston played that record overtime game in the National Hockey League play-offs, Toronto winning after 164 minutes of overtime.

April 4.—Toronto Maple Leafs defeat Boston for N.H.L. championship in 164 minutes of overtime; longest game on record.

April 19.—United States suspends gold standard.

April 29.—Great Britain boycotts Soviet Russia.

MAY

Among the highlights of the month, however, were the sensational revelations brought out by the United States investigating committee of the business carried on by the House of Morgan.

The month also marked the death of Mary Ellen Smith, noted woman politician, at Vancouver. Here is the month's record:

May 3.—Mary Ellen Smith, first woman to hold Cabinet rank in any Government in the British Empire, died at Vancouver.

May 12.—Canada signs trade pact with France.

May 17.—Hitler says he will scrap entire German navy if other powers also disarm.

May 18.—Titles for Canadians issue again agitated.

May 19.—House of J. P. Morgan declared to have made $120,000,000 profit in eight years at United States Senate investigating committee.

May 19.—Canada eliminated by United States from Davis Cup play.

JUNE

Another highlight of the month was the stock trading boom, reminiscent of 1929, except that stock was rising rather than crashing.

It was in June that Judge L. Stubbs, stormy petrel of Winnipeg courts, was ousted from the bench by the Federal Government.

June 10.—World Economic Conference began at London.

June 13.—Great Britain decided not to meet war debt payment to United States in full.

June 14.—United States accepts British "token" payment of $10,000,000.

JULY

July, hot month of the year, was also month of many events of news interest.

It marked the definite failure of the World Economic Conference; it saw stock markets commence to crash.

It saw Great Britain win the Davis Cup and the world's tennis supremacy from France after eliminating the United States.

July 4.—World Economic Conference suspended.

July 7.—Jack Crawford beats Ellsworth Vines in British tennis title match, 4-6, 11-9, 6-2, 2-6, 6-4.

July 8.—Densmore Shute wins British Open golf, while Helen Wills Moody wins her sixth British women's tennis title.

July 9.—Hordes of grasshoppers sweep Western Canada.

July 10.—Three wealthy United States citizens kidnapped and held for ransom totaling $250,000.

July 20. — Chicago and Kansas grain exchanges closed.

July 23.—England defeats United States in Davis Cup semi-final.

July 27.—United States kidnapper sentenced to death for first time in United States history.

AUGUST

The agreement of the Federal Government to bear one-third the cost of relief work was a relief in itself to many provinces, faced with deficits.

The month marked the opening of the Canadian National Exhibition and the annual marathon swims. The highlights were:

Aug. 2. — Federal Government agrees to pay one-third cost of relief work.

Aug. 16.—Ottawa announces wheat yield prospect in Canada lightest since 1919.

Aug. 25.—World wheat conference limits wheat capacity to 560,000,000 bushels.

SEPTEMBER

Probably in the outstanding events during September was the attempt of Hubert Scott-Paine, of England, to win from Gar Wood the Harmsworth trophy for speed-boat racing. Scott-Paine put up a valiant fight, but was defeated in two straight races.

The month's highlights were:

Sept. 4.— Hubert Scott-Paine, British challenger, defeated in Harmsworth Cup race.

OCTOBER

In the field of news, October furnished the Roosevelt plan of fixing a new price for gold. On October 25, President Roosevelt fixed the price of gold at $31.36.

The month also marked the death of an outstanding Canadian in "Janey Canuck," noted authoress, of Edmonton.

The month's chief events were:

Oct. 7.—Giants win world's series.

Oct. 12.—British Columbia allowed tax on fuel oil by Privy Council, restoring $400,000 to treasury.

Oct. 16.—Dominion of Canada refunding loan oversubscribed $300,000,000.

Oct. 20.—U.S. clears path to Soviet recognition.

Oct. 24.—Twenty dead in railroad accident in France.

Oct. 25.—W. J. Bowser, K.C., former Premier of British Columbia, passes away.

Oct. 25. — Roosevelt announces U.S. price of gold set at $31.36, $1.56 higher than day previous, starting new U.S. gold policy.

Oct. 27.—"Janey Canuck," noted Canadian writer, died.

NOVEMBER

November was the month that war rumors were spread throughout the world as a result of Germany's withdrawal from the League of Nations.

It was also the month that Litvinoff, Foreign Commissar of Soviet Russia, made a visit to the United States which culminated in that country recognizing Russia after sixteen years of officially unfriendly relations.

November marked the death of General Sir Arthur Currie, commander-in-chief of the Canadian armies in France in the Great War.

Nov. 1.—Labor gains in English and Welsh municipal elections.

Nov. 2.—German rumors of war agitate world's press.

Nov. 2.—Liberal victory in British Columbia elections.

Nov. 11.—Rumors of another war still persist as world pauses to observe fifteenth anniversary of the end of the war which was to end war.

Nov. 12.—German "election" confirms Hitler's power.

Nov. 15. — Liberal Government takes office in British Columbia.

Nov. 17.—U.S. recognizes Russia.

Nov. 21.—Royal Commission says Newfoundland should be deprived of self-government.

Nov. 29.—Death of Sir Arthur Currie, Canada's war leader, at Montreal.

DECEMBER

Dec. 4.—British Government decides to place responsibility for Irish secession from Commonwealth on Eamonn de Valera's shoulders.

Dec. 5.—United States celebrates repeal of Prohibition.

Dec. 6.—Robert Charles Matthews, Conservative M.P., succeeds Hon. E. B. Ryckman as Minister of National Revenue in Bennett Cabinet.

Dec. 8.—France supports League to last, world is told.

Dec. 9.—Prospectors and claim stakers invade Edmonton for Canada's latest gold rush.

Dec. 9.—Twenty persons die in northern Spain rebellion.

Dec. 9.—Argonauts win Canadian Senior Rugby title, defeating Sarnia.

Dec. 11.—Blizzard kills many throughout eastern U.S.

Dec. 12.—Toronto Leafs-Boston Bruins brawl stirs hockey world as Bailey and Shore are severely injured, former in serious condition.

Dec. 14.—British House sits for over twenty-two hours.

Dec. 19.—General Eoin O'Duffy, Blue-Shirt leader, arrested in Ireland.

RIGHT OXYGEN INTAKE KEEPS BETTE'S FORM FLAWLESS

The talented and alluring Bette Davis is said to be the only girl who has ever qualified as a lifeguard at Ogunquit Beach in Maine. Bettee not only is an excellent swimmer, but also knows how to preserve her strength by proper breathing. And she attributes the loveliness and flawlessness of her figure partly to the fact that she does know how to breathe properly.

(Bette Davis)

That might sound queer to you, but a famous authority on weight reduction recently stated that any woman who breathes properly can retain a youthfully slender figure for years on end. For she claims that air acts as a tonic and stabilizer for the body. And she's certainly right. If a girl is trying to reduce, she needs plenty of oxygen to help oxidize her excess fatty tissues. When fresh air enters the lungs, it oxidizes the fatty reserve in the muscles and burns up poisons. And it stimulates the circulation, causing the blood to run briskly through the veins and carry away all poisonous wastes.

That doesn't mean that a girl can continue to gorge herself with heavy, rich, fattening foods, can refrain entirely from exercising, and yet can still reduce her weight merely by taking a number of good, deep breaths each day. But if she amends her diet sensibly, in the manner indicated in my "New Figure" booklet, for instance, and practices the exercises outlined therein, or ones equally as effective, the deep breathing routine will assist greatly in hastening the reduction of her weight.

The casual breathing of the average woman doesn't supply nearly enough oxygen to aerate the tissues and purify the blood. So if you wish to attain or preserve a youthful, slender figure, practice deep breathing every day. Practice it until it becomes a habit, and consequently becomes your natural way of breathing.

If you really wish to preserve your lovelincss and slenderness, practice deep breathing the first thing upon arising in the morning. Practice it again at night before retiring. Deep-breathing while walking is also beneficial, as it has the added benefit of the exercise afforded by the walking. A complete inhalation should be taken extending over four steps, and a complete exhalation extending over the same number of steps should follow.

Mr. Ronald Lowe is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lowe, Patricia Bay.

"So your boy is a short story writer?"

"Yes; every time he writes home it's the same story about how short he is."

CHRISTMAS PARTY ENJOYED

The Christmas anniversary party of the James Bay branch of the Cathedral Sunday School was held recently in the Seamen's Institute. Supper was served and there were gifts for everyone. The superintendent, Captain Walter Brown, was assisted by a strong committee in arranging the programme. Ninety-three children, representing fifty-four families, enjoyed the entertainment. It was announced that twenty-three of the children went carol singing recently to raise funds to pay for the party. It is the ambition of the superintendent to have a teacher for every eight or ten pupils in order that close contact may be kept with the families to which the children belong

'At Home' Is Enjoyed by Young Folk

About 100 guests attended the joint Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A. reception, held on New Year's Eve, at the Y.W.C.A.

The affair was remarkably successful, bringing scores of the young people together in congenial and wholesome atmosphere, with some of the seniors present as sponsors and reception committee. Those receiving were Mr. Archie McKinnon, of the Y.M.C.A.; Miss M. H. Blackley, general secretary of the Y.W.C.A.; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hammond, the latter chairman of the girls' work of the Y.W.C.A.; Mr. Frank Paulding, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A., and Mr. Vivian Shoemaker, boys' work secretary, were the reception committee, and Mr. Jack Allison, of the Y.M.C.A. "Quad" Club, was chairman for the evening.

THE PROGRAMME

The programme began with group singing, led by Mr. Paulding, who chose half a dozen hymns familiar to all denominations, such as "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross." There were several much-enjoyed solos after this, those contributing being Miss Phyllis Deaville, Miss Marjorie Watson, and Mr. Frank Spooner, vocal; Miss Mary Warren, violin; and the Warncliffe trio. The accompanists were Mrs. Hope, Miss Irvine, and Mrs. C. C. Warn.

Professor Farr gave a short address on the passing of the old year and the coming of the new, this being in retrospective as well as prophetic vein.

Crystal Garden Party Enjoyed By Merry Crowd

One of the merriest "no-host" gatherings, arranged to usher in the New Year, was that held in the lower ballroom of the Crystal Garden, when Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, Mrs. P. B. Scurrah, Mrs. Fred McGregor, Mrs. Edwin Tomlin, Mrs. A. V. Clarke, Mrs. S. J. Willis, and Mrs. Donald McAdie were hostesses to about 200 guests.

Supper was served at 11:15 p.m., and at midnight all the guests joined hands, singing the old favorite, "Auld Lang Syne." Then came the noise-makers, the whistles, trumpets, and general furore of the welcome of 1934. Dancing continued until 4 o'clock.

THE GUESTS

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Jones, Dr. and Mrs. W. Newton, Miss Adair, Mr. J. Danes, Mr. and Mrs. F. Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. W. Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. H. Dee, Dr. and Mrs. E. L. McNiven, Dr. and Mrs. T. H. Johns, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sherritt, Mrs. E. M. Smith, Hazel and George Smith, Miss Dorothy Sheritt, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, Miss Jean Mayhew, Misses Jackie Tweed and Georgina Wilson, Mr. Jack Grogan, Mr. E. Herne, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Smith (Vancouver), Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Macfarlane and Peggy, Mr. and Mrs. H. Dawson, George and Harry Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. W. Melville, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hyslop, Jean and Frank Hyslop, Mr. and Mrs. J. Anderson, Capt. and Mrs. A. J. Gilbert, Mrs. F. Mutrie, Miss Marjorie Thomson, Miss Mona Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. French, Miss Olive French, Mrs. Jack Clark, Mr. G. Adam, Mr. John Thomson, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Thomson, Mr. and Mrs. D. McAdie, and Miss Betty McAdie.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Greer, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Lock, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Patton, Major and Mrs. Stanley Okell, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Pearce, Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Foote, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Laing, Mr. and Mrs. Bassett-Jones, Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Scurrah, Mr. McFadden (Vancouver), Mrs. and Miss Findler, Mr. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. W. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Macdonald, Mr. and Mrs. William Luney, Mr. and Mrs. Humphries, Mr. and Mrs. F. McGregor, Mrs. W. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Luney, Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Willis, Mr. S. J. D. Clack, with party of six; Mr. K. Ferguson, with party of four; Mr. C. V. Milton, with party of four; Mr. A. Dowell, with party of six; Mr. D. Carmichael, with six; Mr. A. Munro, with four; Miss June Scurrah, Miss Edith Adams, Miss Anne Brown, Miss Betty Campbell, Miss Joyce Scurrah, Mr. Allan MacPherson, Mr. Marshal MacPherson, Mr. Lloyd Greer, Mr. S. Roberts, Messrs. Clifford Billingsley, Kenneth Billingsley, John Skrimshire, Peter Skrimshire, Lloyd Mackenzie, Phil Bond, Lloyd Morgan, William Cameron, Richard Robbins, Robert Taylor, Miss Milly Pendray, and Miss Mollie Wallace, Mr. Walter Laing, Jr., Miss Gwen Brton, Miss Isabel Barnes, Mr. Jack Barnes, Mr. Brock Lapointe, Miss Florence Fraser, Miss "Babs" Ward, Miss Mollie Unsworth, and Miss Mildred Baxandall.

"Joyriding!" retorted the angry motorist. "I'll have you understand sir, that I am on a motor tour with my wife."

Little Bedtime Stories

Danny Wishes He Had Stayed Home

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

When Danny Meadow Mouse crept into the little hole in the bank of the Smiling Pool his heart was beating so fast that it hurt. Then, too, he was so tired that it didn't seem to him that he would be able to move again for a long time. You see, crossing the Smiling Pool was a long swim for such a little fellow as Danny Meadow Mouse. He had not been in the water for a long time before, and so, of course, swimming tired him much more than it would have done had he been in the habit of swimming every day. It wouldn't have been so bad if he hadn't been obliged to swim just as fast as he possibly could. As it was, the Big Pickerel who lives in the Smiling Pool had almost caught him. So between his terrible fright and his hard work, Danny was quite used up.

He laid down and for a time just panted and panted, and all the time wished that he had stayed at home where he belonged, on the other side of the Smiling Pool. By and by his heart stopped beating so fast, and he didn't have to pant so to get his breath. You know the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows recover very quickly from fright and weariness. This is a wise provision of Old Mother Nature. If it were not so, they would not be prepared to meet unexpected new dangers.

So it wasn't a great while before Danny once more felt quite himself. He crept to the entrance of the hole in which he had found safety and peeped out. He wanted to see if Reddy Fox was still on the other bank of the Smiling Pool, and what his chances of getting back home in safety were.

The Smiling Pool was as calm and peaceful and lovely as if no such thing as danger was ever known there. Over on the other bank Danny could see Reddy Fox. It was evident that Reddy had not given up hope of getting a meal of some kind at the Smiling Pool. Danny's big cousin, Jerry Muskrat, had just climbed out on the Big Rock with a lily root. This he began to eat. Just watching him made Danny hungry. Grandfather Frog had once more climbed out on his big, green lily pad. Danny looked down into the water and his heart gave a little jump. Half hidden under some lily pads was the Big Pickerel who had so nearly caught him. Danny didn't need to be told that the Big Pickerel was lying there in the hope that Danny would once more take to the water.

Suddenly an ugly black head with wicked-looking horny jaws was thrust out of the water in the middle of the Smiling Pool. It was the head of Snapper the big Snapping Turtle, and the very sight of him made Danny shiver, for he knew that nothing would suit Snapper better for a dinner than a fat meadow mouse. More than ever Danny wished he had stayed at home.

It was the head of Snapper, the big Snapping Turtle.
